MAGISTRATE JAY MAKES GRAVE CHARGES

DOMINION'S BUDGET BALANCED BY SMALL INCREASE IN TAXES

Hon. E. N. Rhodes Receives Generous Reception for Courageous Statement

ACTION ON NEW TRADE PACT TO BE DEFERRED

(Special to The Colonist)

OTTAWA, April 6.—Hon. E. N. Rhodes, in his first budget speech, gave to Parliament a model in lucidity and brevity. It was courageous and indicated a complete confidence in a revival of business in Canada. To the Canadian taxpayer the confidence of Mr. Rhodes carried relief in the light increase in imposts and to the Empire the welcome news that Canada was not increasing trade barriers, but awaited the Imperial Economic Conference with its expected consultation and co-operation.

It has been given to few new finance ministers to receive such a general and generous reception as was accorded Mr. Rhodes. When he arose he was applauded by every member and all parties united in displaying their respect for the man who has taken over the burden of guiding Canadian business and finance in this period of world depression. It was a remarkable tribute to a new minister and was earned by his invariable courtesy and efficiency in Parliament and his department to balance the budget of the present year.

TAX INCREASES

Mr. Rhodes estimated there would have to be an increase in revenue of $55,000,000 and he will secure this by slight increases in existing taxes other than tariff imposts, except the general levy on imports which has been increased from 1 to 3 per cent. The sales tax is increased from 4 to 6 per cent. While the income tax increases are much lower than expected, as are the reductions in income tax exemptions. Any other special taxes are minor in character and will not be burdensome in application.

"Having in mind the near approach of the meeting of the Imperial Economic Conference," said the Finance Minister, "it is deemed undesirable to make any tariff changes touching the British preference." This decision of necessity precludes any major tariff adjustments. No declaration could have been made that will be more popularly received in Canada and throughout the Empire. Canada's Finance Minister has counted the

Finance Minister Gives Comprehensive Review of National Exchequer

OTTAWA, April 6.—In a comprehensive review of the national exchequer in the past year, Hon. E. N. Rhodes said Canada had been caught in the vortex of depression, the common lot of the nations of the world. Revenues fell because business slumped. At the end of the year, total revenues totaled $334,741,000 and total expenditures $454,246,000.

"With ordinary revenues of $327,719,000 and ordinary expenditures amounting to $378,743,000, the resulting deficit of ordinary account is $51,924,000, the finance minister asserted. "This has resulted from the decreased yield from taxation and notwithstanding reductions made in expenditure. Special expenditures, including $49,282,000 for unemployment relief and wheat bonus, total $55,238,000. As an offset to this amount, $7,022,000 was received in special revenues, leaving a balance not provided from income of $48,116,000. In addition, there are the capital expenditures of $16,975,000 and loans and advances non-active of $3,390,000. The amount, therefore, of the increase in debt for the year is $119,505,000.

WHEAT BONUSES

During the last fiscal year, $11,000,000 was expended in bonusing wheat, Mr. Rhodes announced. In addition, the Government, at no cost to the treasury, guaranteed advances made by the banks to the

Income Tax Exemptions Lowered and Discount Removed by Regulations

INCREASED IMPOST ON SALES NOW EFFECTIVE

OTTAWA, April 6 (CP).—Increases in the rates of tax payable on personal incomes and a reduction in exemptions were announced in the House of Commons this afternoon by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance. The changes will apply to incomes of 1931. Penalty provisions for improper returns are being strengthened.

Taxation on incomes of corporations and joint stock companies is raised to 11 per cent. This change likewise will affect 1931 returns.

TAX ON CORPORATIONS

"It is proposed," the Minister announced, "to raise the rate of taxation on incomes of corporations and joint stock companies to 11 per cent, to take effect in the 1931 taxation period. Under the act at present, a corporation whose financial year is not coincident with the calendar year is allowed until April 30 of the following year to pay the tax. It is proposed to amend the act to provide in such cases for the return of income and payment of the tax within four months from the close of the fiscal period. This will have the effect of accelerating the collection of the tax from those corporations whose fiscal periods do not end with the calendar year. A further amendment to the Income War Tax Act will repeal the provisions relating to family corporations.

PERSONAL INCOMES

"In respect of the tax on personal incomes, it is proposed to repeal the deduction of 20 per cent now allowed from the tax payable under the established schedule of rates. In addition, all taxpayers, including corporations, in receipt of net income in excess of $5,000, will be required to pay a surcharge of 5 per cent of the amount of tax otherwise payable.

"The personal exemption, where heretofore $3,000, will be reduced to $2,400, and where heretofore $1,500, will be reduced to $1,200. No change is to be made in the exemption for dependent children. Hereafter the exemption granted in respect of income from annuity contracts will be $1,200 instead of $5,000. This will bring the exemption into conformity with the Annuities Act as amended in 1931."

Effective tomorrow, the sales tax goes up 2 per cent. The jump is from 4 to 6 per cent. The increase in the sales tax last year accounted

CLAIM TO HAVE FRESH CONTACT

Wave of Fresh Hope for Lindbergh Baby's Recovery Sweeps Over Sourland

HOPEWELL, N.J., April 6.—A description of a fresh "contact" with kidnappers of the Lindbergh baby reached here today as an unexplained wave of optimism for the child's safe return enveloped the Sourland countryside.

Back home from a mysterious four-day airplane trip, John Hughes Curtis, one of three Norfolk, Va., intermediaries, told briefly of establishing the new contact and said he had been informed the baby was well.

Significance was added to his announcement by a statement he also had seen Col. Charles A. Lindbergh while away. This for the first time connected the activities of the Virginia trio with the two unexplained trips made early this week by the famous flyer.

Rumors the missing child already had been returned to his parents or to the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, at Englewood, spread from coast to coast during the day. There also were persistent reports, one attributed to a person connected with the investigation, that the return of the child was only a matter of hours off.

THREATS TO KIDNAP RIFE IN WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, April 6.—Less than twenty-four hours after a threat had been made to kidnap the children of Alderman J. Blumberg, a second Winnipeg family tonight found themselves prospective victims of extortionists, it was learned today.

Shortly before noon yesterday Mrs. T. F. Iverson received a telephone message from " a man with a foreign accent." He threatened to spirit away her three boys unless $25,000 was paid him.

Police tonight continued their guard over the children and home of Alderman Blumberg, whose four children, threatened with kidnapping if demands for $5,000 were not met, were escorted to and from school by detectives.

View Higher Excise Tax As Retaliatory Measure

WASHINGTON, April 6 (CP).—Dispatches announcing an increase in the excise tax on all goods imported into Canada from 1 to 3 per cent were received on Capitol Hill late this afternoon with the usual reaction.

Republicans preferred to refrain from comment but intimated the Canadian tariff was Canada's own affair.

Low-tariff Democrats expressed their feelings more openly. Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi said, "They are just carrying on the retaliatory war which has arisen because of our high tariff rates."

Representative Rainey, Democratic floor leader, said, "It simply makes it harder for us. It is simply part of retaliation. We are entitled to it and we are not in a position to complain."

Representative Celler, of New York, who several months ago wrote to Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada and President Hoover suggesting opening of negotiations looking toward reciprocity, refused comment. "Simply more and more taxes," he said.

Experts tonight had not completed study of the effect of the new tax on United States trade. It will certainly prevent export of some classes of goods shipped on a narrow margin of profit. The latest monthly export figures offered were those of January, when exports to Canada were about $23,000,000, on which the tax was about $230,000. Should next month's exports be in a similar sum, the tax would be $704,000.

Highlights of the Budget

FOLLOWING are the highlights of the Dominion budget, presented in the House of Commons yesterday by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance:

Corporation tax increased from 10 to 11 per cent.

Income tax exemptions reduced to $2,400 for married men and $1,200 for single men, with no change in the $500 exemption for each dependent child. Twenty per cent reduction now allowed from the gross tax abolished.

Surtax of 5 per cent on the amount of the tax payable imposed on all taxpayers, personal and corporate, with net incomes in excess of $5,000.

Sales tax increased from 4 to 6 per cent, with list of exemptions narrowed. The increase becomes effective today.

Excise tax on all imports increased from 1 to 3 per cent.

Stamp tax on cheques, money orders and promissory notes over $5 increased from two to three cents, and on amounts over $100 from two to six cents.

Tax on railway sleeping car berths, 10 per cent, with twenty-five cent minimum. Chair car tickets taxed ten cents.

Five cent tax on telegrams, cables, radio messages and long distance telephone calls costing more than fifteen cents.

Tax of 1 per cent on premiums of authorized insurance companies, other than life, marine and farm mutual, whether Canadian, British or foreign, maintaining deposits with the Dominion.

Deficit on ordinary account $52,000,000, with special expenditures increasing national debt by $119,500,000.

Estimated expenditures for 1932-33, $379,500,000.

Estimated surplus for fiscal year 1932-33, $4,300,000.

St. John's Cools Off as Premier Returns to City

Heavy Downpour of Rain Helps Drive Home Appeal of Speakers for Orderly Dispersal of Mob—Whole City Under Patrol With Thousand Special Police on Guard

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 6 (CP).—After twenty-four hours' absence from the city, Premier Sir Richard Squires drove up to his office in a motor car tonight, rushed up the steps and through the door. He was apparently little the worse for the rough handling he sustained while being taken from the Colonial Building to a private house during yesterday's disturbance, but showed the mark of a bruise on his right cheek.

A heavy downfall of rain tonight aided in quieting the city, after Hon. Peter Cashin late this afternoon had quelled further disorders of unemployed demonstrators with a speech that sent them quietly to their homes.

PROMISED TO RESIGN

The former Minister of Finance and Customs, addressing a crowd which had collected near the central liquor stores and attempted to break in the doors, told them that Sir William Coaker had been in communication with Premier Sir Richard Squires, and that the Premier had promised to resign or to ask dissolution of the Assembly within forty-eight hours. The crowd then dispersed.

Until his return to the city no indication of the Premier's exact whereabouts was given, except that he was "out of town." He made his way from the city last night after escaping the violence of a mob which had surged into the basement of the Colonial Building, in the upper rooms of which the Assembly was then in session.

APPEAL FOR ORDER

A public appeal for order was issued tonight by F. C. Alderdice, leader of the Opposition. The proclamation read:

"Fellow Citizens:

"You can do no good by force. You can only do harm. I appeal to

U.B.C. GRANT IS RATIFIED

Legislature Passes Sum of $250,000 for University Assistance

Completing votes in the Educational Department last evening, the Legislature approved of a grant of $250,000 to the University of British Columbia after debate on the issue put up by the Opposition. The grant last year was $462,700.

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe explained the course of negotiations between the Government and the governors of the university, and said that the institution had already budgeted on the basis of the reduced grant. Premier Tolmie said the Government would see what could be done to help in other ways.

If the Government was to keep its expenditure down, it was forced with the necessity of paring in every way, and much as it was regretted no exception could be made in the case of the university, speakers on the Government side declared.

The annual grant of $3,000 to Victoria College was previously ratified.

FIREMEN HOOK WILD IRISHMAN

Wanted Man Captured From Aerial Ladder After Battle With Police

VANCOUVER, April 6.—Armed with a seaman's marlinspike, Edward J. O'Flaharty, last night withstood for more than half an hour the combined efforts of police and fire squads who used gas bombs and fire hose to dislodge him from his room in the Columbia Hotel, Columbia Avenue and Cordova Street, to execute a warrant for his arrest on a charge of insanity.

On information that O'Flaharty was in a dangerous frame of mind, a large squad of police officers went to his room on the second floor of the hotel at 9:45 p.m. As they opened the door, O'Flaharty, armed with the marlinspike, dashed madly at them, waving his weapon, and the police were forced to retreat.

OPENS A WINDOW

Reinforcements from police and fire headquarters were summoned immediately and with a large stock of tear gas bombs, police made a second assault on the room. Gas bombs were thrown over the transom, but O'Flaharty countered the effect of the gas by opening a window.

Firemen then opened up with a fire hose from the second floor of the hotel, but their tactics were countered by a wild rush on the part of O'Flaharty, who, swinging his marlinspike, dashed at the hoseman, who dropped his weapon and fled.

In the meantime, firemen erected an aerial ladder, and with plaster hooks projected into the room through the window, managed to catch O'Flaharty's clothing and hold him until police were able to force their way through the door.

O'Flaharty was lodged in the city jail a few minutes later.

Complains Police Board Interfered With Court; Provincial Police Act

Attorney-General Backs Authority of Civic Official and Orders Search Warrant Executed Which, It Is Alleged, Commissioners Instructed Chief Heatley to Ignore—Hospitals Club Raided

COMPLAINT by Magistrate George Jay to Attorney-General R. H. Pooley that the processes of his court were being interfered with by City Police Commissioners Andrew McGavin and Mrs. Dorethy North brought swift action from the Attorney-General's Department in support of the judicial authority of the magistrate. Provincial police, under direction of Sergeant R. Harvey, acting on instructions from Colonel J. H. McMullin, Commissioner of Provincial Police, and accompanied by Inspector John T. Boulton, of the city force, yesterday afternoon raided the headquarters of the Victoria Hospitals Club, 642 Yates Street, and seized some thousands of club tickets, ticket stubs and correspondence files.

The complaint of Magistrate Jay was that the two commissioners had interfered with the serving of a search warrant for the premises in question which had been issued by him on request of city police.

REORGANIZE COMMISSION

Following the raid on the Yates Street quarters, Attorney-General Pooley stated, by reason of complaints that could not be ignored, that the Government proposed to take immediate action to change the whole constitution of the Victoria Police Commission. While he did not particularize in the processes by which such changes would be made, he indicated that they would be in the nature of a form of commission in force in some Eastern Canadian centres, where the County Court judge, magistrate and mayor formed the police board under the chairmanship of the mayor.

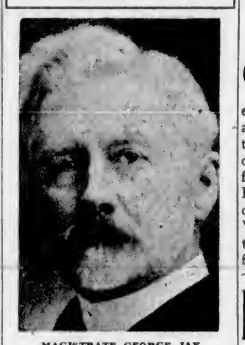

It would be the endeavor of the Government to make whatever changes were necessary become effective as soon as possible, he intimated.

OBTAINED WARRANT

According to information conveyed by His Worship George Jay to the Attorney-General's Department in support of his contention of interference with the operations of the judicial functions of the civic court, Chief of Police Thomas Heatley, in the exercise of his duty, had suspicions that the Victoria Hospitals Club, which purported to be an association for the financial support of city hospitals, was in reality a scheme to operate a drawing or sweepstake. Confirming these

Danubian Troubles Discussed

LONDON, April 6 (AP).—Representatives of Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy, functioning as a kind of executive committee of Europe, today discussed ways and means of remedying the Danubian economic troubles and they achieved what was authoritatively described as "very good progress."

A source in close touch with today's discussions said they were conducted "in a spirit of complete harmony."

Each of the four Governments is appointing a treasury expert to examine the recent report of the League of Nations financial committee on the conditions of the Danubian countries.

The principal delegates participating in today's session were Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Finance Minister Pierre Etienne Flandin, of France, Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, of Italy, and Secretary of State B. W. von Buelow, of Germany.

NEW TAXES EXPLAINED

Hon. J. W. Jones Outlines to Legislature Effect of Income Measure

Chief taxation bills of the session came down in the Legislature yesterday, including the new Income Tax Act, and a companion measure to vary the provisions of the Special Revenue Tax Act of 1931. Hon. J. W. Jones spoke to the bills in the evening sitting, explaining what the Government contemplates doing.

"Adoption of the new Income Tax Act makes it possible to discontinue both the gross income tax and the special revenue tax," the Minister of Finance explained. "The conditions under which three separate taxes were imposed not only led to confusion, but gave rise to inequalities, as well as causing additional administrative work."

TERMS OUTLINED

Personal allowances are to be made positive exemptions instead of rebates, in the new measure, and the exemption of $500 applicable to married persons will also apply to householders, Mr. Jones explained.

The exemptions are $500 in respect to married persons and householders, including widows and widowers with dependent children, up to $300 on insurance premiums paid, and $200 in respect to each

Reduction in House Membership Likely On Redistribution

Victoria Would Retain Four Seats, Lower Mainland to Have Eleven, New Seat for Peace and Three Ridings Will Disappear

BRITISH Columbia's Legislature may be reduced by one seat if present plans are embodied in amendments to the Constitution Act, which will make its appearance in the House shortly. One new seat would be added in the Peace River area, one to the Lower Mainland area by a rearrangement of boundaries west of Dewdney, and three seats eliminated by elision of two ridings in each case. This would give a total membership in the Legislature of forty-seven, compared to forty-eight as at present.

Forecast of the actual redistribution measure reached the House yesterday, in further amendments to the Provincial Elections Act, providing for a division of Vancouver into four ridings, to be known as Vancouver-Burrard, Vancouver Centre, Vancouver East and Vancouver-Point Grey. Changes in the provincial elections measure also provide for a simplified form of voting registration for naturalized British subjects.

VICTORIA, FOUR SEATS

While members of the ministry have declined to anticipate the intentions of the Government on redistribution, it is unofficially believed that Victoria will retain its four seats in the House. Circles close to the Government believe Alberni and Nanaimo, Columbia and Revelstoke, Nelson and Creston, will be thrown into three seats, eliminating three others. One seat would be added, it is thought, by provision of a new seat in the Lower Mainland area tributary to Vancouver.

The new seat in the Peace River area would be created to take care of the new district which is rapidly gaining settlement, and would involve about the only change that is to be made in the North. Some boundary rearrangement in other contiguous areas would not alter the seats affected.

Redistribution plans of the Government were caucused last week, and are understood to have been left

REPLY RECEIVED FROM DE VALERA

Government Statement on Matter Expected on Monday in British House of Commons

LONDON, April 6 (CP).—J. H. Thomas, Secretary for Dominion Affairs, announced in the House of Commons this afternoon the British Government had today received the reply from President Eamonn de Valera of the Irish Free State to its representations that the oath of allegiance and the payment of Irish land annuities were integral parts of the Irish treaty and its accompanying financial agreements.

The Government had the reply under consideration and he hoped to be able to make a statement on Monday in this regard, Mr. Thomas added.

Asked by James Maxton, member of the Independent Labor Party, to disclose the contents of the Irish note, which is understood to maintain the Free State Government's position that the oath should be abolished and the land annuities retained, Mr. Thomas replied it was not customary to disclose the contents of such documents without agreement of both Governments.

SLOT MACHINE SEIZURES MADE

Inspector Boulton and Squad Raid Seven Alleged Downtown Operators

A severe blow was struck at slot machine games yesterday when Inspector John T. Boulton, of the city police force, with a squad of men, swooped down on seven alleged operators and seized their equipment, valued at several thousand dollars.

Eight machines, containing candy, tokens and nickels, were taken to police headquarters pending the serving of summonses and subsequent hearing should charges be preferred against the alleged operators.

The round-up of slot machines followed closely upon a raid on the Victoria Hospital Club, in which 30,000 unsold membership tickets and 1,000 stubs of sold tickets were confiscated.

The establishments raided by Inspector Boulton and squad last night were:

DRASTIC CUTS ARE EFFECTED

Estimates for Attorney-General's Dep't $1,188,849 Less Than 1931

Estimates in the Attorney-General's Department were reviewed by the Legislature last evening, in committee of supply. The total vote is shown as $2,136,861, a reduction of $1,188,849 from $3,325,710 voted last year. Attorney-General Pooley explained the estimates.

Land registry offices are budgeted at $133,291, compared to $149,358 last year. Operation of the Provincial Police, including all votes, will be $590,512, a reduction from $638,-561 last year. The total cost of the Game Branch is $193,179, compared with $206,445 in the year previous. Game bounties are listed at $5,000.

LIQUOR PROFITS

The municipalities' share of the liquor profits for the year is estimated at $785,000, a reduction from $1,000,000 estimated in 1931, consequent on falling revenues.

County jails will cost $102,474, slightly less than in the year previous. Branch office votes are considerably reduced from the corresponding totals of the year before. The many services include the companies' branch, $27,934; Fire Marshal's Act, $10, after deduction of $19,542 chargeable to the special fund; municipal branch, $7,111; moving picture censorship, $13,687; sheriffs' offices, $24,505, besides the provision for court registries and other services in that connection.

Administration of game laws came in for debate from Opposition members, much of which involved discussion that retraced ground covered earlier in the session on the same matter. The total vote for all game administration purposes this year is $193,179, or less than it was last year.

POLICE ADMINISTRATION

G. A. Walkem (Cons., Vancouver), pointing to the operation of Dominion, Provincial, Municipal and private police bodies in British Columbia, asked why one force could not do it all. Saskatchewan had abolished its own police system, and this trend was being widely followed, he observed. Mr. Walkem suggested amalgamation, or at any event, a study of the matter.

Attorney-General Pooley said amalgamation, in the case of Dominion and Federal police, would not be a saving.

Provincial police performed many services which would not be carried out by the Mounties, he declared, paying a high tribute to the members of both forces. Mr. Pooley agreed that the ideal of one force was attractive but not as practical as might appear on the surface. The British Columbia police now administer law and order in twenty-two municipal centres, and no city had regretted its agreement, he said in conclusion.

Western Wheat Pool in the marketing of the 1930 crop.

"Based on present market prices," proceeded the finance minister, "the expectation is that when all accounts are settled, the Canadian Co-Operative Wheat Producers, Limited, will be able to settle all advances without recourse being had to the Dominion's guarantee."

The Dominion also guaranteed credits to three semi-public marketing agencies in the Prairies, the Manitoba Pool Elevators Limited, Saskatchewan Pool Elevators Limited, and Alberta Pool Elevators Limited. The total of the guarantee was $20,750,000 but no liability on the Dominion has resulted.

OTHER COSTS AND LOANS

In the course of the year, the Dominion was called upon to make several extraordinary expenditures. In addition to the wheat bonus, a total of $38,250,000 was expended for unemployment relief, a total of $22,-431,923 was loaned to Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, both for internal use and to meet contractual obligations in the New York money market.

Reviewing the last year's financial operations and the ways and means the Government proposed to adopt to raise the revenue needed in the year 1932-33 were dealt with under five headings by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, in his budget speech in the Commons this afternoon, as follows:

"1. A brief reference to events which have so profoundly disturbed international finance and the consequent reactions on our own situation.

"2. The financial operations and accounts of the Dominion for the fiscal year ended March 31, and in this regard it will be understood the figures are not final but represent the closest estimates that can be made.

"3. Canada's trade and commerce.

"4. The estimated revenue and expenditure for the fiscal year 1932-33.

"5. Ways and means for securing the revenues required to meet the estimated expenditures."

Mr. Rhodes briefly reviewed the last year ended March 31. It had been "replete with financial difficulties and problems, many without precedent," he said. Canada, in common with other nations, was in the midst of a period of declining prices and diminishing revenues.

GOLD POSITION

The proposals of President Hoover for a moritorium were touched on. The steady withdrawal of gold from countries whose reserves had already been reduced had led to the cessation of the use of gold as a medium of exchange and its hoarding. Finally, said Mr. Rhodes, the world was startled by the announcement on September 21 last that Great Britain had been forced off the gold standard.

These events, and others following them, had been reflected in the position of Canada. "It goes without saying," declared the minister, "that these events had a peculiar significance for Canada, a debtor country, having at the moment an unfavorable trade balance. Our exchange could be maintained only so long as financial operations, based on normal conditions and confidence, were resulting in a net inflow of money. Between October 1, 1931, and March 31, 1932, the Dominion, provinces, municipalities and semi-public bodies, had, it was estimated, $72,-000,000 of debt maturing in New York and London, and in addition, $80,000,000 of external interest charges had to be provided. Added to these, there were the debts of corporations and individuals. With these obligations to be met, the dislocation of external money markets presented no inconsiderable threat to our credit abroad."

DOLLAR AT DISCOUNT

"Following the decline in sterling," Mr. Rhodes continued, "the Canadian dollar showed continual depreciation until the low was reached on December 16, when the discount was 24⅞ per cent. It was realized that, notwithstanding the high credit position of Canada, any effort to stabilize exchange at par with gold could not, under conditions then existing, be successful. Our policy was therefore directed to accomplishing two results: First, to ensure the prompt payment of all obligations due abroad according to contract and, second, to assist in maintaining normal currency and credit conditions with Canada.

"On September 14, the Government commenced buying the gold production of the larger Canadian mines, on a basis approximate to the value of New York funds. This gold has been used to meet obligations in New York and has been sufficient to keep the Dominion out of the exchange market, and at times to provide external gold funds for the National Railways and provinces. From the viewpoint of Canadian commerce, the policy was generally advantageous.

CREDIT MEASURES

"With respect to the internal situation, the needs of industry, of crop marketing agencies and of public bodies harassed by falling revenues, made it obligatory that credit facilities in Canada continue to operate smoothly and at reasonable cost to borrowers. Also it was imperative there be no flight from the Canadian dollar through fear of inflation. This could be accomplished only by maintaining domestic confidence and by preserving a reservoir of credit which could be drawn on to meet any external crisis. It was successfully accomplished under a policy authorized by the order-in-council of October 19, which, while maintaining the redemption rights under the Dominion Notes Act, permitted the export of gold only under licence issuable by the Minister of Finance to chartered banks. On October 19, the note issue, including those issued under the Finance Act, was $144,-468,571, and the gold holdings represented over 45 per cent of the face value of the issue. On March 19, 1932, the note issue, including those issued under the Finance Act was $142,896,193 and the gold holdings represented over 45 per cent.

"The number of licences issued to March 1 was 182, representing gold to the value of $28,896,566. Of this amount, $19,839,286 was on the Dominion's account, being gold purchased from the mines. The balance was the property of miners, banks and individuals who deal in gold.

"Well may Canadians look back with satisfaction over what has been accomplished," said Mr. Rhodes. "All external debts have been met on the due dates. The $72,000,000 principal amount of external debts, payable by the public bodies of Canada and maturing before March 31, was provided for partly by repayment and partly by renewal, but at this date only $33,-000,000 of the original amount is represented by debt owing abroad, and this balance is so arranged that orderly redemption can be carried out without embarrassment. The holders of Canadian securities with obligations for external payment have received their $80,000,000 of interest as it became due.

POSTAL INCOME

"Due to the raise in postage rates and because postage stamps may now be used for certain excise stamp taxes, the postoffice revenues are estimated at $31,748,000, as against expenditures estimated at $34,550,000. This does not include disbursements made by other departments on account of the postoffice, nor does it, on the other hand, give any credit for handling the mail of the various branches of the public service free of charge.

"Interest on investments, being payments from harbor commissions, boards, etc., financed by way of loans from the Dominion, are including the regular payments by Rumania on its loan, it is estimated, will total $10,000,000. In this is included the interest paid by the chartered banks for advances under the Finance Act, which it is estimated will amount to $360,247, as compared with $539,984 last year."

REVENUE SUMMARY

The following brief summary of all revenues received, in comparison with the four previous fiscal years, was given by Mr. Rhodes:

	1930-31	Estimated 1931-32
Receipts from taxation	$296,278,000	$273,348,000
Nontax revenues	53,311,000	54,371,000
Consolidated fund receipts	349,587,000	327,719,000
Special receipts	6,422,000	7,022,000
	$356,208,000	$334,741,000

ORDINARY OUTLAYS

The minister then turned to a review of the ordinary expenditures of Canada during the year 1931-32. He said:

"The ordinary expenditures for the year are placed at $378,700,000, which is approximately $19,000,000 less than was estimated. The expenditures on services for which provision is made annually by vote actually were $25,000,000 less than the amounts authorized by Parliament. On the other hand, certain statutory expenditures, such as subsidies to provinces, old age pensions and exchange, exceeded the estimates by $6,000,000.

"Over $3,635,000 was in connection with exchange, mainly the premium on gold purchased from the mines. This expenditure was largely offset on the revenue side by credits totaling $2,248,000, resulting from the sale of New York exchange and the discount on sterling purchased to meet London requirements. A further credit of $506,000 was realized on the purchase below par of sterling securities for sinking funds, which made a net expense for the year on premium, discount and exchange of $881,000."

CAPITAL OUTLAYS

The amount voted for capital expenditures for 1931-32, proceeded Mr. Rhodes, was $18,861,000. Of that sum, it was estimated $16,975,000 had been spent during the year. This was appreciably smaller than in the preceding fiscal year, when expenditures on capital account were $28,200,000. The principal items of expenditure were: Hudson Bay Railway, $5,215,000; Welland Canal, $2,940,000; St. Lawrence River channel dredging, $4,200,000, and the Reserch Building at Ottawa, $1,700,000.

The Government had been forced to make certain special expenditures, and with respect of these, Mr. Rhodes made the following reference:

"It is estimated special expenditures will amount to $55,100,000, as compared with $16,789,000 on this account in the previous year. The chief items are wheat bonus and unemployment relief.

"The wheat bonus will cost $11,-000,000, as compared with the estimate made originally of $7,000,000, the increase being due to the fact that the crop proved to be greater than was anticipated."

RELIEF WORKS

Turning to expenditures under the Unemployment and Farm Relief Act, the minister presented tables showing the expenditure by provinces and indicating the share of the Dominion, the provinces and the municipalities. The figures showed a total of $70,469,675 expended in works, $5,999,971 was in British Columbia, of which the Dominion's share was $2,999,986 and that of the province and municipalities was a like amount.

DIRECT RELIEF

"For direct relief," the minister continued, "the Federal contribution chargeable to the 1931-32 accounts is estimated at $8,975,000, the major part of which applies to the drought areas in Saskatchewan.

"To sum up, these special expenditures for unemployment and farm relief in the fiscal year 1931-32 will be $13,250,000 under the legislation of 1930, and $25,000,000 under the legislation of 1932, a total of $38,-250,000, and the balance of commitments to be carried over into the next fiscal year will be $16,000,-000, not including provision for direct relief beyond the actual disbursements mentioned above. The latter requirements are difficult to estimate as they are governed by the exigencies of the situation in the different provinces and it requires a considerable period after the actual relief payments are made for the accounts for the Dominion's share to reach Ottawa.

AID TO PROVINCES

"Having dealt with expenditures for unemployment and farm relief, it may be appropriate, while on the the subject, to refer to further assistance rendered to provincial governments by way of loans," said the minister. "It is a matter of common knowledge that for some months various provincial bodies have been unable to issue securities on the New York market, where they have obligations falling due. In order to protect the credit of Canada as a whole, temporary assistance was given to certain of the provinces in meeting their obligations, but in no instance did the Government undertake the role of banker with respect to the redemption of maturing provincial debts in New York until it was satisfied every other avenue had been diligently explored by the province without success. The sums advanced under this head totaled $11,-637,190. In addition to that amount, $16,734,006 was loaned for internal purposes, including provincial share of relief works. In these instances the Government's assistance was given as part of its relief, programme on the urgent representations of the provinces that in existing circumstances their commitments could not be fulfilled without such aid from the Dominion. As security, the Dominion holds one-year treasury bills of the provinces and the rate of interest charged is that which the Dominion had to pay for the money."

ADVANCES $60,681,923

Including loans and expenditures, Dominion disbursements on account of unemployment relief and assistance to the provinces would total $60,681,923, the minister told the House.

TWO BIG LOANS

The borrowings of the Dominion were then dealt with by Mr. Rhodes. He referred first to the 1931 Conversion Loan. Final figures of the loans eligible for conversion and the amount actually converted were given to the House. The total amount outstanding on May 1, 1931, was $1,084,823,350. The total amount converted was $686,609,300.

"While the conversion had no immediate effect on the annual interest charges, the Government will benefit substantially within the next few years by reason of the lower interest rates obtained," said the minister.

This, he said, was indicated by the following statement:

Fiscal year, savings in interest, 1932-33, $193,128; 1933-34, $568,360; 1934-35, $3,335,241; 1935-36, and annually thereafter, $6,192,064.

The National Service Loan was referred to by Mr. Rhodes, who said the offering had been $150,000,000, and the amount had been substantially oversubscribed. The accepted oversubscriptions, he said, totaled $71,192,200, bringing the total issue up to $221,192,200. Mr. Rhodes mentioned that the total number of subscriptions was 109,000, indicating the loan was widely distributed.

"While the banks made application for $30,000,000," commented the minister, "the Government took the view that it was in the national interest to give the preference to small investors. Therefore, when the subscriptions far exceeded the $150,000,000 offering, the banks were asked to withdraw their applications."

C.N.R. FIGURES

By reason of the railway situation being under review by a Royal Commission, the minister confined his remarks on the Canadian National Railways to a brief statement. The total financial provision the Government was required to make, either directly or indirectly, for the system in 1931 was $108,976,265, Mr. Rhodes observed in presenting the following statement:

Deficit, Canadian National Railways, excluding Eastern lines, $52,-255,676; deficit, Eastern lines, $8,-712,762; total deficit, $60,968,438. Capital expenditure, including new equipment, $33,990,106; debt retirement, $9,791,691; discount on securities issued, $4,226,030. Total $108,-976,265.

Of these requirements, the minister proceeded, $41,282,899 was being furnished by way of advances by the Government out of the proceeds of the National Service Loan and temporary borrowings in New York [illegible]s on the Eastern lines, amounting to $8,712,672, had, in accordance with the provisions of the Maritime Freight Rates Act, been paid as an expense of the Government and were included in the statement of the expenditures. The balance of the requirements, namely, $58,980,604, including discount, was provided from the proceeds of Canadian National Railway bonds guaranteed by the Government.

AUTHORIZED BY PARLIAMENT

Mr. Rhodes continued:

"The advances made by the Government stand as to $29,910,400, under authority of the Canadian National Railways Financing and Guarantee Acts of 1931, and as to $11,372,498.86 under the supplementary legislation recently passed by Parliament to provide for expenditures up to the end of 1931 in excess of amounts authorized for such purposes.

"These advances have been made from the treasury under legislation which anticipates repayment through the sale of securities guaranteed by the Government. It may, of course, transpire that such repayment will not be practicable and that the company will find it is unable to assume carrying charges on this debt. It has not been considered advisable, however, to take these advances into our accounts as expenditures, pending the determination of policy with reference to the future financing of the company after the report of the royal commission on railways has been received and considered."

NET PUBLIC DEBT

"Continuing the practice introduced last year," the minister said, "the cash statement is followed by the balance sheet. The active assets are made up of cash balances and specie accounts, loans and advances which are realizable or income producing, and other miscellaneous accounts. These assets are taken as an offset against the gross liabilities in arriving at the net debt.

"Total liabilities as at March 31, 1932, being estimated at $2,832,355,-843, and active assets at $451,238,348, the resulting net debt figure is $2,-381,117,486."

FUNDED DEBT

Mr. Rhodes furnished the House with a statement of the unmatured funded debt of Canada as at March 31 last, and the annual interest charges thereon. The total amount of the unmatured funded debt he gave as $2,564,170,057, on which the interest charges are $127,598,186. He summarized the loan situation as follows:

Payable in Canada	$1,881,461,020.85
Payable in Canada and New York	131,040,000.00
Payable in New York	240,000,000.00
Payable in London	311,668,136.39
	2,564,170,057.25
Less bonds and stocks of the above loans held as sinking funds	62,387,324.01
	$2,501,782,733.23

In addition to the funded debt, the bonds guaranteed by the Dominion Government as at March 31, 1932, totaled $100,918,406. These include Canadian National, Grand Trunk Pacific, Grand Trunk, Canadian Northern and bonds issued by harbor commissions, etc.

for an addition to the revenue of approximately $20,000,000 as compared with the previous year. Sales tax yielded $41,271,000 in comparison with collections amounting to $20,-784,000 in the preceding fiscal year, when the sales tax was 1 per cent. At that, however, the returns were not as great as they would have been had the tax gone into effect at the opening of the fiscal year. Two months had gone by before the increase became effective, and the result was a lower return than would otherwise have been secured.

EFFECTIVE TODAY

This time the maximum amount will be obtained. The increase becomes effective tomorrow, and no time will be lost in gathering in the revenue resulting from the increased schedule.

Also the new rates of taxation, it is announced, will apply to all goods taken out of warehouse for consumption on and after April 7, "and to have applied to goods previously imported for which no entry for consumption was made before that date." This, it is anticipated, will preclude the possibility of placing orders for a considerable quantity of goods prior to the tax becoming effective, such goods to be delivered at some future date on the installment plan. In the past such method, it is contended, was sometimes employed to evade payment of the increased tax.

EXEMPTIONS ALTERED

A limited adjustment of the exempt and partially exempt list, in the case of a number of articles not primary products which it is believed should, under present conditions, carry a proportionate share of the burden, takes place.

Chief items to be taken from the exempt list are bakers' cakes and pies, lard compound and similar substances made from animal or vegetable stearine or oil, ice cream, processed milk foods and cereal foods "under Customs items 45 and 46, and usual coverings for goods not subject to the sales tax."

Biscuits are to be raised from the half to the full rate, Mr. Rhodes stated. Additional revenue would be obtained from this source, he added.

INSURANCE PREMIUMS

Imposition of a tax of 1 per cent of net premiums of insurance companies authorized to transact business in any province of Canada, other than life, marine and farm mutual, was announced in the budget speech.

The tax upon insurance premiums passed at the last session was not put into effect by proclamation as provided by the statute, owing to difficulties over the jurisdiction of the Dominion and provinces in the matter of insurance, Mr. Rhodes remarked.

"It is now proposed, under the special War Revenue Act, to impose a tax of 1 per cent of net premiums of insurance companies authorized to transact business in Canada or in any province of Canada, other than life, marine and farm mutual. This tax was in force from 1915 to 1929. British and foreign companies, not so authorized but maintaining deposits with the Dominion, will also be assessed 1 per cent of net premiums received in Canada. Canadian policyholders who insure their property in Canada with companies other than those mentioned above, will be charged a tax of 15 per cent of the gross premiums payable on such insurance."

LEVY ON TELEGRAMS

The Canadian taxpayer will once again be required to pay a tax on telegrams, cables and radio messages, under the terms of the budget brought down today by Mr. Rhodes, a new feature is the imposition of a tax on long-distance calls by telephone. The tax is 5 cents.

The resolution providing for imposition of the tax reads as follows:

"That on every cable and telegraph or radio message originating in Canada, for which a charge of more than 15 cents is made, except press dispatches, and on every long-distance telephone call originating in Canada for which a charge of more than 15 cents is made, the sending company shall pay to the consolidated revenue fund a tax of 5 cents, and may charge the same to the person paying the regular charges for such message."

CHIROPRACTIC BILL HALTED

Sustained Attack on Private Bill Staged in Legislature in Debate

Chiropractic legislation was halted in the Legislature yesterday when adjournment on debate of the bill was taken after a discussion of more than an hour, during which time special legislation to establish chiropractors under their own administration and regulations came under heavy fire from professional members in the House.

Dr. J. J. Gillis (Lib., Yale) said he wished to have it realized that chiropractors were not qualified to practice on the general public, for the treatment of all ailments. Physicians spent from seven to ten years in acquiring knowledge of the human body, and it was absurd to think that anyone could, in eighteen months, learn enough to render him capable of general practice, he said. He flatly opposed the bill.

R. W. Alward (Cons., Port George) stated he concurred with Dr. Gillis. He did not believe that chiropractors had any qualification or right to treat of infectious or contagious disease. He would, however, be willing to grant powers along restricted lines, within the capabilities of the practice on matters where it might be efficacious. He would oppose the present bill, he said.

Dr. C. M. Kingston (Cons., Grand Forks-Greenwood) said the chiropractors had advanced nothing beyond their claims and ambitions of fifteen years ago. Medical science was not personally interested in the issue, except to see that the public was safeguarded. Knowledge of medicine was as old as man, and had improved with modern science, step by step. He cited the smallpox scare at Vancouver, and said chiropractors had done nothing to avert an epidemic—happily arrested by action of provincial and Vancouver health officials.

SUPPORTS MEASURE

J. A. Loutet (Cons., North Vancouver) said simply he would support the bill. Chiropractors and drugless healers were practising, and even if their action only produced a mental stimulus, that was a gain to those benefiting by their treatment. He would at least grant some measure of self control to the practitioners.

Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., declared an open mind on the bill, chiefly on the ground that while no corresponding period of training was demanded of drugless physicians, as had to be accumulated by orthodox medical practitioners before treating the public, some measure of legislation would confine other cults to some decernible limits. If the legislation passed, it could always be controlled by the Legislature, depending on the results.

Dr. L. E. Borden (Cons., Nelson) adjourned debate, over protest, and a show of hands, 23 to 13, in favor of this course.

DOES NOT FAVOR HOME ECONOMICS

Difference Between H. Murray and Oak Bay School Board Is Adjusted

A difference of opinion existing between H. Murray and the Oak Bay School Board with regard to the value of the home economics course in the schools has evidently been adjusted. Mr. Murray had kept his daughter from attendance at the home economics classes, which, under the School Act, is a violation of the rules to be enforced.

A special meeting of the board was held last evening, at which it was requested by the board that Mr. Murray should attend and allow the matter to be gone into. He did not attend, but sent a letter setting out that he considered attendance at the home economics classes as a waste of time for the daughter and of ratepayers' money. He had had his daughter devote this time to music which, he felt, was a better employment of the time. He added, however, if the reasons advanced were not considered satisfactory, that he would endeavor to conform to the law.

The board decided to inform Mr. Murray that the reasons were not regarded satisfactory, and that they would expect the daughter to attend the classes.

FUNERAL RITES HELD

A large number of friends were present on Wednesday afternoon, when the funeral service was held for Mrs. Mary Reynolds, whose death occurred on April 2. The service was conducted by Rev. Interment was made at Ross Bay Cemetery, the following acting as pallbearers: R. M. McKintosh, A. Galbraith, J. C. Hopkins, E. Middleton, Captain J. C. Foot and Dr. W. Russell.

WILL IMPROVE PARK ENTRANCE

Committee Decides to Extend Mount Douglas Picnic Grounds Immediately

Steps were taken at the Victoria-Saanich Parks and Beaches committee meeting yesterday to enlarge the Mount Douglas picnic grounds and improve the approach to the park.

A huge cedar log portal will be erected over which the name of the park will be painted. The new road now in process of being constructed will be completed before the Summer vacation, so that improvement work to the picnic grounds will be proceeded with.

The picnic ground will be enlarged to accommodate more visitors, and the existing highway will be closed to through traffic.

Tenders will be called for the tea room concession at Mount Douglas, and the concession at the north-west picnic grounds at Elk Lake.

Other matters pertaining to parks and beaches were left in abeyance until the city and Saanich complete their estimates for the year.

COMMITTEE MEETS

The monthly meeting of the committee was held at the Aged Women's Home on Tuesday. The president, Mrs. W. L. Clay, was in the chair. Members present were Mesdames Gould, Grant, Vincent, Heddle, Leiser, Sabiston and Whittier. The ordinary routine of business was attended to and all accounts incurred for the month ordered paid.

The convener of the monthly committee, Mrs. Vincent, reported that the business of housecleaning was progressing well. The committee for the month includes Miss O'Brien (convener), Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Sabiston.

in the position where Vancouver members were to report back on the redivision of boundaries in that area.

General discussion of the subject is understood to have brought out the fact that further limitation of membership is not considered entirely feasible at this time, owing to the huge territory involved in northern and inland ridings, and a congregation of a large percentage of the population in cities, where the ridings are territorially small.

Under other conditions, a gain of 100,000 in population in the last decade would have brought a material increase in membership, in place of which the actual reduction believed firmly in contemplation.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

ALWAYS THE SUIT FIRST

A vivid illustration of the superiority of approach bidding occurred in the recent final session of the Eastern championship tournament for the possession of the Reisinger Cup, emblematic of team-of-four supremacy. Two of the greatest contract teams in the world were pitted against each other. The members of The Bridge World team were Mrs. Culbertson and Messrs. Waldemar von Zedtwitz, Theodore A. Lightner and Michael Gottlieb. Playing against them was the team, the captain of which was Mr. P. Hal Sims, who had as team-mates Messrs. Willard Karn, Oswald Jacoby and David Burnstine.

Almost all contract players have learned that the best results are attained in almost all bidding situations by opening the bidding with suit bids and gradually approaching the correct final contract. Mr. Sims is a believer in the approach principle, but also considerable of an individualist, which, on the hand below, proved extremely disadvantageous.

West—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

The Bidding:

(Figure after bid in table refers to numbered explanatory paragraph.)

West	North	East	South
1NT (1)	Pass	2NT	Pass
3NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

1. One diamond would be better.

Contract this bidding with that in the other room, where Mr. Lightner held the same hand as Mr. Sims, and Mr. Gottlieb held Mr. Karn's cards.

West	North	East	South
1◇	Pass	1NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Mr. Sims was defeated two in his contract of three no trump. Mr. Gottlieb made one no trump.

A raise of an opening bid of one no trump is clearly indicated with East's holdings, but if West opens with a bid of one diamond and East responds with a bid of one no trump, West's hand does not justify a raise to three no trump, nor, in fact, does it particularly suggest any further action at all. If partner can merely overcall a bid of one diamond with one no trump, it carries with it the inference that he does not have a biddable suit to show. West's distributional values are practically nil, and thus, when partner responds with a bid of one no trump, showing also marked lack of distributional values, a further bid, even though holding three and a half honor tricks, is extremely questionable.

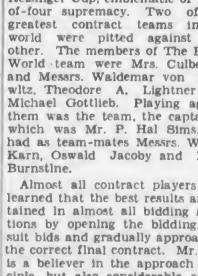

TODAY'S POINTER

The approach principle, which requires that on hands containing a choice between opening with a suit bid of no trump, the suit should first be bid, works with almost unfailing accuracy, both in making easier the choice of the correct eventual declaration and in avoiding losses due to no trump opening bids.

TOMORROW'S HAND

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow.

North—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

Pirates' Gold Vanishes; Mere Pennies Remain

Boy's Treasure Trove Found to Be Thieves' Loot Taken From Empress Garage — Automatic Pistol Found

Visions of pirates' plunder flashed through the imaginative mind of John Batey, aged eleven years, when he found in a crevice of rock at the rear of his home, 865 Heywood Avenue, a handkerchief containing hundreds of coins and an automatic pistol.

His vision of treasure trove, however, was quickly dispelled when, upon investigating the bundle, he discovered the coins to be merely "pennies" and the automatic revolver only the rusty remains of a once formidable weapon.

Detective Charles Cremer investigated the find yesterday and believes that in the discovery of this money and revolver a portion of the loot of thieves who broke into the Empress Garage last year has been recovered.

OFFERS PANACEA FOR CONDITIONS

J. J. Seitz, of Toronto, Now Visiting Victoria, Has Suggestions for Restoring Prosperity

J. J. Seitz, of Toronto, who is now at the Empress Hotel, accompanied by his son, W. J. Seitz, has a threefold prescription for the curing of the conditions that now prevail. He is here for two weeks' time in an effort to recover his strength, engaging in golf and enjoying the mild weather of this city. Mr. Seitz is the general agent for the whole of Canada for Underwood typewriters.

The first step which is necessary, says Mr. Seitz, is the cutting out of politics in this country. As an example of what can be accomplished in this line, he points to Great Britain and thinks that that should be example enough to the residents of this country to adopt a similar course.

The next step which the visitor would take and which would be coincident with the first is the breaking up of a lot of the great mergers in the country. With the watered stock which exists it is impossible, states Mr. Seitz, to make profits that would be large enough to pay the dividends necessary and at the same time wages to the employees commensurate with the duties which are cast upon these employees.

NEED NEW EXECUTIVES

As a natural sequel to this step, Mr. Seitz would demand the creation of a new body of executives, who have not been obcessed with the tremendous success of the past few years and in consequence are not able to adapt themselves to the changing conditions which he thinks are required.

What is needed is a class of men in executive positions who will take business on and be satisfied with carrying on under a volume of trade which was experienced before the boom. These men would be satisfied with a moderate volume of business which would give a fair return on the investment without providing for watered stock and would also give fair wages to those employed.

With conditions along the line which he suggests, Mr. Seitz believes that prosperity would return and the people would be as a whole, more comfortable and happy. Without pursuing a course such as he outlines, the Toronto visitor sees no immediate outlook for better things.

Just Roamin' Around

By TWO ROVERS

Having read, with great interest, what The Daily Colonist said only yesterday about "Clean-Up Week," which commences April 11 (next Monday), I sat down at my typewriter with every intention of writing a stirring roverism on the subject of our beautiful city's annual bath, or "clean up."

But Rover, my exasperating roommate, had to put a stop to that. There are times when I could cheerfully boot him!

Said he: "What do you know, Master, about cleaning up and painting a dirty, dilapidated, weather-worn dwelling? Huh! You don't own a house, or building, at all, at all; and probably never will!"

"It's only too true," I agreed, "but I wanted to do my share in the way of urging others to clean up, paint up and tidy up."

"That's all very well, Master; but you don't know how lovely it must be to live in an unpainted, rain-stained, unkempt and battered looking house; and there are quite a lot of people who really hate to help to make their town look respectable and clean and well kept."

"It's the same with gardens and back yards and weed-sown plots. They bring a lot of joy to some folks, especially to those who possess them and who have little or no pride in their own home town."

"It must be delightful for those people to avoid "Clean-Up Week," and elude the vigilance of the city garbage brigade; some folk love dirty streets and uncouth surroundings! Let 'em be! Don't try to persuade 'em to help the city authorities to make this a banner clean city!"

"You'll hurt their feelings if you do. You don't know the joy of being the owner of the one shabby fence, the one tumble-down garage, and the one paint-peeled house on the street, to say nothing of the sheer delight of having the one chief weed-garden in the neighborhood!"

"Nevertheless," say I:

"CLEAN UP!"

If there's any doubt about it in your mind,
Take an extra pinch o' salt with what I say,
And shake off your disbelief; then you will find
Your wee cot's spot-clean condition will repay
Your tidying-up; 'twill give you lasting joy;
Besides, someone out of work you can employ!
So, let's tidy up and clean up, now, this week,
And the next week, and the next week, and next week!

Should there be misunderstanding as to what
I am driving at, your garden first espy;
Oh! it may be very pretty, or may not,
But rank weeds and thistles, leaves and grass, knee-high,
Aren't conducive to the beauty of your town!
Just a little work will keep the rubbish down!
So let's tidy up and clean up now, this week,
And the next week, and the next week, and next week!

And it may be that you own a house or two,
Or a fence, as bare of paint as face of man;
Now, it's "Clean-Up Week," and there's a lot to do,
Just to make Victoria city spick and span!
Be you proud enough to tidy up a bit!
And then, by and by, you will be proud of it!
So let's tidy up and clean up, now, this week,
And the next week, and the next week, and next week!

GRATEFUL MOTHER'S LETTER

"With my last baby," writes Mrs. William McLean of Elora, "and I have a family of eight children, I was only able to nurse him for about four months, and then naturally turned to Eagle Brand to bring him along. He was a normal infant all the way, but after starting him on Eagle Brand he gave me little or no trouble, sleeping regularly between feedings, and grew to be such a happy, contented little fellow. He cut his teeth without difficulty and has not had a sick day since. Wherever I go, people admire him and say 'What a lovely baby,' and ask me how I feed him. Eagle Brand is highly thought of in our home, and I recommend it to every mother seeking a satisfactory food for her infant."

BUDGET REQUIREMENTS

The Federal Budget cannot be said to contain any great surprises. The extent of the deficit on the past year's financial operations of the Government was approximately known. There have been hints for some time past of the taxation changes, and many of these have proved to be well founded. Those to be effected are designed to raise a sum of $55,000,000. The budget speech by Mr. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, was admirably delivered and remarkable for its lucidity and for the brevity of such a document.

The ordinary revenues of the Government for the fiscal year ending March 31 last, were $327,719,000, and the ordinary expenditures, $378,743,000. Thus the deficit on ordinary account was $51,024,000. This has been chiefly due to the falling off in revenue, almost in every avenue, because of depressed economic conditions. As well, a sum of $49,282,000 was spent on unemployment relief and some $6,000,000 for a wheat bonus. After the amount on special revenue is considered there is a balance, not provided for in income, of $48,116,000, to which must be added capital expenditures of $16,975,000, and loans and advances of $3,390,000. Including all these commitments and, the actual budget deficit on ordinary account, the increase in debt that accrued last fiscal year amounts to $119,505,000. This, presumably, will be met by a Federal loan to be sanctioned by the present session of Parliament.

The Sales Tax is increased from four to six per cent. This new tax is now effective. In income taxes the personal exemption is reduced for those with dependents from $3,000 to $2,400, and for those without dependents from $1,500 to $1,200. In addition, there is to be a five per cent surcharge on the amount of income tax payable by taxpayers, personal or corporate, with net incomes in excess of $5,000. The corporate rate is increased to eleven per cent, and provisions relating to family corporations are being repealed. These changes affecting income will apply to taxes paid on the year 1931. Certain types of insurance companies will have to pay a tax of one per cent on premiums they receive, those companies exempt being life insurance, marine and certain forms of mutual fire companies. British and foreign companies doing business in the Dominion will pay this tax.

Cheques and money orders are subject to higher taxation. Those over $5, as well as promissory notes and bills of exchange, will have a three cent stamp on amounts up to $100 and six cents over $100. There is to be a five cent tax on telegrams, cables and radio messages and long distance telephone calls. A tax of ten per cent is levied on railway sleeping car berths and ten cents on chair car tickets. The taxes on cheques, tickets and messages become operative on May 2.

A feature of the budget is that, with one exception, no changes are made in the customs tariff. The reason for this is that the Government does not wish to interfere with schedules until the whole matter of inter-Empire reciprocity is discussed at the forthcoming Imperial Conference. Of this conference, the Government, according to Mr. Rhodes, entertains very substantial hopes. He says, indeed, that his conviction is that the country, "is not far removed from events which will herald the dawn of better days," and that "Canada will be found in the vanguard of those nations which successfully emerge from the greatest testing time in modern history." He sees in the Imperial Conference an opportunity unique in history, an event which "is primarily designed to stimulate trade within the Empire," but which will, as well, "release forces and establish currents which may well flow beyond our borders, to the eventual benefit of the world at large."

The budget typifies an earnest to meet the needs of the situation by spreading, as widely as possible, the increased taxation it is necessary to impose to meet the needs of decreased tax collections and of extraordinary expenditures arising because of an era of depression. The people of the Dominion have been wholly in favor of the dispensation of unemployment relief. In sections they may not have been entirely happy over the manner in which the moneys have been expended, but they are of one accord in the belief that the situation should be met. The taxpayers have to foot the bill, and it may be will have to foot further expenditures to meet the need so long as it maintains. In the meantime, the Dominion Government has introduced many substantial economies in its branches of administration. More economy, on even a greater scale, will be possible when the report of the Transportation Commission is available and when it is learned how the burden of the Canadian National Railways may be lessened.

Mr. Rhodes deserves congratulations on the clear-cut character of his financial statement. He neither condones nor exaggerates, but has put before the people a plain statement of facts and figures. That is what is wanted in connection with any budget. The Dominion Government, under Mr. R. B. Bennett, has no apologies to make for the manner in which it has conducted the affairs of the country during the past fiscal year.

AN INJURIOUS SHIPPING BILL

Canadian shipping interests, and perhaps notably the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, are strongly opposed to the Davis Shipping Bill now before the Legislature at Washington on the ground that it will interfere with privileges of travel that prevail as between this country and the United States. Under its terms there would be a radical change in the coastwise laws that maintain. It would be of particular detriment to the tourist business now carried by the B.C. Coast Steamship Company's vessels on the triangular route and to Skagway. According to the proposed legislation a passenger buying a round trip ticket from Seattle to Vancouver would be in conflict with the American law and place the ship on which he traveled in danger of a fine. In respect to the services in question, as carried out by the B.C. Coast Steamship Company, they are international services to which the bill would put a period were it to become law.

In the course of the hearing of the evidence on the subject of the Davis Shipping Bill before a sub-committee of the Committee on Commerce of the American Congress, very strong exception was taken to the bill by Mr. James Wickersham, the delegate from Alaska. He read before that committee a long list of telegrams from Alaskan interests protesting against the passage of the bill on the ground that they could not dispense with the service provided by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. These were from the Mayor of Ketchikan, from the Merchants and Miners Bank, from fishery interests, from the Wrangel Chamber of Commerce, from merchants and from individuals. They were to the effect that such legislation would be a severe blow to the tourist industry of Alaska, would work hardships on business generally and would be detrimental to the interests of the people as a whole. Moreover, it was pointed out that the competitive service operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company was a big asset in maintaining the present standard of travel.

So strong a case has been made out against the Davis Shipping Bill, as it affects adversely the fortunes of Canadian steamship interests, that there is every likelihood that it will be dropped, or so amended as to remove its objectionable features. Were it passed, there is little doubt that it would be both possible and feasible for Canada to adopt retaliatory measures. One of these might well be to insist that all American vessels bound from Seattle to Alaska would have to use the outside passage, instead of, as now, going through Canadian waters lying between Vancouver Island and the mainland. That would work such a hardship on American steamship interests that it would not be contemplated as a possibility with any degree of equanimity, for it would add to the expenses of travel, lengthen the route to be followed and increase the danger of shipwreck. The hope is that the American Congress will allow matters affecting passenger travel to remain as they are on this coast. Here, at least, there are none of the conditions which provided the motive for the introduction of the Davis Shipping Bill.

A DENIAL

No campaign of misrepresentation can ever help the cause of any party. In a letter from the secretary of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association which we printed yesterday, the statement was made that Mayor Leeming, when a candidate in the municipal elections of last year-end, made the statement that "the sinking funds are short to the extent of over three million dollars." Mr. Leeming did not make this statement. He said, "The sinking funds were short to the extent of over three millions," alluding to the years 1922 and 1923. Mr. Leeming knew quite well at the time, and is even more fully informed now on the subject, that the sinking funds of the City of Victoria are not only fully intact but have a surplus of $100,000 over requirements.

The present Mayor has for many years been a keen student of civic finances. He was especially active in connection with these during his period as a member of the aldermanic board. His interest has been fully maintained ever since and has become intensified since he was elected Mayor. For many years he has kept himself well informed on the condition of civic finances and has known exactly the state of the sinking funds. It is incredible, therefore, that he should have been responsible for a statement that the sinking funds were $3,000,000 short in December last. The presumption is that many members of the Ratepayers' Association were present at the election meeting where Mr. Leeming's alleged statement was made. They could inform the secretary of their association, in the interests of veracity, that there is no foundation for the accusation on the basis of which there is now an effort to make political capital at the expense of the Mayor.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity. —Psalms.

As we have said before, as we have found out and some of our colleagues are finding out, the life of a newspaper commentator, like the life of a policeman, is not a happy one. Indeed, the life of a newspaperman is likely to be a troubled one if he has the temerity to tread on the tail of the coat of an Irishman, or do something which is just as provocative: question the capacity of certain medical or surgical practitioners to cure "all the ills that flesh is heir to."

Ever since the day when we printed a certain statement about the new phase of the old Irish question we have been living in dread of a visit or at least receiving a letter from a correspondent living at Milne's Landing. We have not received a letter, but we have had the pleasure of a visit from the said correspondent, and instead of enduring a crack on the head from a heavy and stout Irish blackthorn, we have received a compliment. We have not actually been charged with having visited Ireland and kissing the blarney-stone, but have been told that we have "a very pleasant way of putting things," which is equivalent to having kissed the stone which has made Ireland famous and the people of Ireland such entertaining company. At the same time the mystery of the name of our correspondent has been cleared up. We hold a card in our hand on which is inscribed the following: "Captain John Bowen Colthurst." And before we parted the very best of friends, we learned that Captain Bowen Colthurst had been in many wars and had travelled in all parts of the world, near and remote, and had had even more adventures than the far-famed Trader Horn.

Next to the Imperial Economic Conference, we suppose the political situation which was not unexpectedly developed in Ireland is the most interesting subject engaging the attention of the people of the British Empire today. President de Valera of the Irish Free State, the "head centre" of the agitation, has been receiving candid counsel from all parts of the world on the issue he has created. He has been told by the British Government the purport of his challenge to the Imperial authority. He has been advised by the government of another equally free state, by the government of Australia, that his course is ill-considered and must be disastrous if insisted upon. And we expect he has discovered something which is altogether unexpected. He undoubtedly believed that when he created a new phase of the old Irish question that there would be some of the old "repercussions" in Canada and the United States. But the Irish people in the United States do not seem to be at all interested in the political situation created by the man who is either a citizen of the United States or a man without a country. Certainly the situation has created no enthusiasm in the United States. Neither of the political parties in the republic has attempted to take advantage of it thus far for the purpose of influencing the presidential election. True, the Liberals of Canada seemed to believe they had a discovered a bomb which might be exploded with serious consequences to the Conservative government, but the bomb proved to be a dud. Such of the newspapers of the United States as have discussed the question at all have either utterly condemned the course of De Valera or have damned it with faint praise. The newspapers of Canada in the main, irrespective of their political views, are agreed that if the policy of the president be pursued to its ultimate end, the result must prove disastrous to Ireland.

As an illustration or explanation or definition of the attitude of the Irish people of the United States to the policy of the Free State president, the following interesting letter written by Benedict Fitzpatrick was printed in a late issue of The New York Times:

In view of the proclaimed determination of the new Irish president to take certain steps in the direction of separation between Ireland and Great Britain and the Empire, may I say that I think in so doing he would be committing an unfortunate error?

My reasons are not the usual reasons and they have nothing primarily to do with the immediate difficulties that might arise. Too many people are oblivious of the fact that not Ireland alone but the entire British Isles represent the historic homeland of the Irish people. The English are not the real British and the title is a recent assumption with them.

The Britannici, or British of history — the Anglo - Saxons used "Brvttas" to designate the Celts of the British Isles—are the Irish and the Welsh. What is today England was Irish and Celtic ground before it became English. Both Wales and Scotland are ancient Irish provinces Irish speech was the vernacular in Great Britain when Caesar arrived—Irish and Welsh were then twin dialects—and it is a vernacular there today. The oldest place names and family names in Great Britain still remain Irish. Nothing could be more unnatural than that Irishmen should automatically become aliens in any quarter of the British Isles.

Twenty years ago, when I first visited this country, the average Tammany Irishman's highest flight in apologetics was "Ireland was Ireland when England was a pup." The case is different today. But for my part I refuse any more to get excited about Ireland. I find I have all along been in heart a British Isles man. I regret the rough words I have spoken again Englishmen, and would expunge them. In any case, we are living in a new age. Decent Englishmen and decent Irishmen are in final agreement about the sovereign claims of the Irish people. The day of understanding and reconciliation that looked impossibly remote has miraculously dawned. What is lacking in Irish status and unity may be henceforward obtained by patient negotiation. A richer fruition than any republic would be a realization of the dream that visited both Cardinal Newman and the late Standish O'Grady, in which Irishmen took full, responsible part in the working of the world-wide Empire, of which Ireland and England together form the twin ancient heart and home.

The Rhyming Optimist

THE WIDER VISION

I do not see the lines on ageing faces,
The eyes less bright and clear,
Though care and toil must ever leave their traces
Through stealthy year on year.

Nor do I heed bent head or stooping shoulder,
The steps grown insecure;
Such ills must come to all as they grow older,
Implacable and sure.

But joyously I note the wider vision,
The ache of others' woes,
The heart grown patient and the wise decision
Which passing time bestows.

And it is good to learn how those who travel
For long life's ways that wind,
So many times its tangles can unravel
By only being kind.

I do not see the lines when beauty, waning,
Takes all her charms away,
Instead I watch the ageing faces gaining
Love's look from day to day.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 16.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Bonsbees drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

TRIBUTE TO MR. BARNJUM

Sir,—It is to be hoped that the people of British Columbia, and particularly those living on Vancouver Island, will realize and appreciate what is being done for them and for posterity by that public-spirited man, Frank J. D. Barnjum.

This gentleman, hailing from Nova Scotia, an outsider, with no interest in this province other than his love of the forest trees, has purchased two thousand acres of the finest timber lands and dedicated them to be preserved in perpetuity, taxes paid, for the benefit of the people of this province and their descendants.

These tracts of timber, fine examples of our forests, now fast disappearing, are situated along the Cowichan River and, being traversed by a public highway for a distance of three and one-half miles, are easily accessible. They contain not only the age-old giants of the virgin forest, but also fine young growing timber and will be, therefore, a perpetual possession, a living monument to the glory of the Creator and in grateful remembrance of this public-spirited citizen of Canada.

This is generosity indeed. We take our hats off to you, Mr. Barnjum.

CITY'S SINKING FUNDS

Sir,—A letter signed by Arthur Hinder, secretary, Victoria Ratepayers' Association, appears in your issue of today. I feel it is necessary for me to correct two statements made in this letter.

The statement said to have been made before the private bills committee was a reporter's error and should have read at a meeting of the City Council. When the spokesman for the Ratepayers' Association appeared before the City Council he made the statement that they were opposing the city's bill as a matter of principle, but would help the City Council to get the by-law passed. At last Monday evening's meeting of the City Council this statement was unanimously confirmed by the ten aldermen present.

The other statement requiring correction is that the mayor and aldermen are not taking the people fully into their confidence—"in view of the fact that Mayor Leeming, at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium on December 7 last, as reported in The Daily Colonist of December 8 last, used these identical words: 'The sinking funds are short to the extent of over three million dollars.' Now he states that there is no shortage in the sinking funds."

Mr. Hinder must have had the press report in his hands at the time of writing his letter and I am at a loss to understand why he made a deliberate misquotation.

The report in question states clearly that the period I referred to was 1922 and 1923, and the words used by me are as follows: "The sinking funds 'were' short to the extent of over three million dollars." Whether intentional or otherwise, Mr. Hinder's change of the word "were" to "are" places an entirely different complexion on my statement.

I can assure the ratepayers that the mayor and aldermen are taking the public very, very fully into their confidence and withholding nothing.

D. LEEMING,
Mayor.

PHILANTHROPY

Sir,—We doubtless have a very large number of visitors and tourists who much appreciate the attractions (scenic and otherwise) of our lovely Vancouver Island, and these visitors are sure to be very much appreciated, especially by Victoria's commercial and business men. But how much more should a non-resident with no financial interests here, or axe of his own to grind, be appreciated who for purely philanthropic reasons incurs the great expense that Mr. Frank D. Barnjum has gone to in order to save 2,000 acres of forest timber on the Cowichan River from destruction, and which he or his executors will hold in trust—pro bono publico—and for future generations, so that these grand old forest trees of British Columbia will still be on view to gladden the eye of passers-by.

Mr. Barnjum, being the owner and taxpayer of this forest, there need be no fear of its scenic beauty being destroyed, and may it be hoped that the public will not be unmindful as to whom they have to thank for this very philanthropic act.

As an afterthought, would not this forest make a splendid sanctuary for English song birds and others? Maybe this idea will be thought worthy of consideration.

VICTORIA THE VICTIM

Sir,—It was arranged that the Provincial Water Board should arbitrate the cost of water to be paid by Oak Bay and Saanich municipalities to the City of Victoria, based on the cost of Sooke Lake works only. Representatives of all three municipalities appeared, presumably to safeguard their respective municipal interests, which eventuated as follows in the award made on January 29, 1927, and published by both local papers.

The board made an arbitrary reduction of $43,000 on the outlay made by Victoria (which was part of the cost) because in its opinion was not prudently invested. Then it assumed an average consumption for four years, which has never materialized, but which had the effect of reducing the unit cost per 1,000 gallons. For example, a cost is set at, say, $1,000. Divided amongst 100,000 the cost is 1c; divided amongst 200,000, the cost is ½c each.

This is a double-barrelled fraud. Reduce the cost, then enlarge the unit of consumption.

For six years the City of Victoria has suffered this rank injustice, and is now bound by a rascally contract at a reduced cost for eight years more in one case.

But the rawest fraud is the fact that all three municipalities are being supplied from both waterworks, whilst Oak Bay and Saanich are only charged with the cost of one.

To exonerate either the Pendray or Anscomb regimes in this matter on the grounds of "verdancy" would be a poor compliment, so we must charge them with incompetency and gross neglect of Victoria's interest for allowing a swindle like this to go on. What is the Leeming regime going to do about this?

SCOTLAND AND ENGLAND

Sir,—I thank you for your editorial in last Friday's Colonist. I now accept as correct the authorities therein quoted. In reply to your correspondent, Mrs. D. MacKenzie, who writes in part, "I wonder from what source Mr. Campbell obtains his views?"

1. My school history of Great Britain, published with authority from the British Government, which states: "On July 17, 1603, The Crowns of England and Scotland now became united, and James assumed the title of King of Great Britain and Ireland."

2. The translators of the Bible says so, and my Bible has therein the copy of the licence from Hon. J. B. Balfour giving authority from Her Majesty-in-Council to the publishers to print the Bible with its original King's title.

3. The 231 - year - old journals of the House of Commons I possess, wherein King William III is referred to as His Majesty the King of Great Britain twelve times on one page and not once otherwise. One would naturally think that if anyone knew the King's title it would be the King's Printer of the then reigning Sovereign.

RECREATION ROOMS

Sir,—It has come to my notice that some erroneous impressions prevail regarding the finance of the Citizen's Recreation Room. Several people are under the impression that we obtain monetary support from the Government; others that the city treasury assists us. Will you kindly publish these facts for us:

Neither of the above have in any way assisted us financially. Our ability to open and operate these rooms has been made possible through five church organizations and the generosity of the general public, who have subscribed money and material. Our total income to the end of March was $694.22; our expenditure for opening and operating through February and March was $446.11, leaving us a balance of $248.11. This amount will pay our expenses for April, with very little margin over. May I appeal to your readers to give us continued support, forwarding donations to R. F. Taylor (treasurer), Belmont Bldg.; or to this office.

We have now an average of 150 men using the rooms daily. They appreciate this opportunity to escape the street corner, and in a small way forget their misfortunes in a clean healthy environment.

Secretary, Citizen's Recreation Room.

UNEMPLOYMENT PANEL CLOSING

Twenty Hearings and Sixty Hours of Public Inquiry Were Held

After some sixty hours of public hearings, with twenty sittings, the Legislative committee on unemployment wound up the taking of evidence yesterday morning, and will now prepare its report to the Legislature.

The end came suddenly, after formal representations on behalf of the nonpermanent active militia, seeking local control over unemployed men in Coast units, with the offer of putting regimental organizations at the disposal of the Province to this end.

PRESENT PROPOSAL

Militia units of the nonpermanent force of artillery and line regiments in Vancouver and Victoria laid a concrete proposal before the committee, through Capt. M. F. Macintosh, M.P.P. Lieut.-Col. T. B. Monk, Victoria, and Major Sherwood Lett, Vancouver, said approximately four hundred men listed in volunteer units were unemployed, and could be better cared for through regimental channels than in Provincial relief camps, without any added cost. They offered the full disposal of these organizations in caring for their own men.

The delegation was heartily thanked for its suggestions. It was composed of commanding and ranking officers of Vancouver and Victoria units, as follows: Colonel Perry, Col. P. White, Major Sherwood Lett, Major S. F. Moodie, of Vancouver, and Col. T. B. Monk, Major G. Barton and Capt. S. Bowden and Capt. C. L. Branson, of Victoria.

The officers stressed the splendid type of men in the regiments, some of whom were not able to get work at this time, and urged separate treatment under regimental activities as a solution of the difficulty. Taking the men to camp broke up drills, and the ordinary routine of training, it was pointed out.

HELD TWO JOBS

Reverting to the dual positions formerly held by M. H. McGeough, when the committee had been previously told, held posts under the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Provincial Government concurrently, Dr. W. H. Sutherland (Liberal, Revelstoke) informed the committee this had been with the full knowledge of both employers.

Challenged on this, Dr. Sutherland said he was informed that Col. D. B. Martyn, former British Columbia commissioner of industries, had permitted Mr. McGeough to work for the C.P.R. at the same time as he had been employed as watchman at $4 a day in a nut and bolt factory at Vancouver, under government control. Dr. Sutherland said he was also informed Mr. McGeough had had the consent of the C.P.R. to this course. The matter was not pursued.

MAKES GENERAL CHARGE

The public hearings of the committee ended with a general charge by the Leader of the Opposition that the investigation into unemployment affairs had not been full enough. Every government agent, engineer and other official who had been connected with the work should have been examined. George S. Pearson (Liberal, Nanaimo) said the committee had been called to examine all phases of relief and had not done so.

H. D. Twigg (Conservative, Victoria), chairman of the group, retorted that twenty public sittings had been held and everything investigated that had been brought before the committee in a concrete way as relevant to the issue. He personally had heard little of a constructive nature from the Member for Nanaimo as to any solution of the unemployment problem. Adjournment followed. The committee is to report to the Legislature.

Empire slogan to await action until all are present and agreed.

TRADE TREATY DEFERRED

This Empire policy has for the time deferred the consummation of the New Zealand-Canada trade pact. This agreement carried a wool preference for New Zealand in the Canadian market and as there are no tariff changes therefore no wool duty and no preference for New Zealand. This, no doubt, is a great disappointment to many, but until the Empire family conference it is conceded that all trade deals should be suspended.

There will be considerable discussion over the deficit of the last fiscal year. It is true the debt has been increased in that period by $119,000,000, but it is equally true that in the general and normal Federal business the deficit was but $51,000,000, the remainder of the debt increase being due to the wheat subvention, unemployment relief, and capital expenditure. It is on a basis of a deficit of $51,000,000 last fiscal year that Mr. Rhodes proposes to secure $55,000,000 to balance the budget of the present year.

C.N.R. FINANCES

Last year the Federal Government had to advance direct from the treasury to the Canadian National Railways a very large sum to keep the road in operation. Of this amount $52,000,000 remains unpaid and it is doubtful if it ever will be paid. It is being carried in the Federal financial statement as an asset, but a corporation with a deficit of $60,000,000 last year and one probably as great this year, cannot have any liquid assets or any hope of having any.

ONE TARIFF CHANGE

OTTAWA, April 6 (CP).—Possibly indicating a special session of Parliament later in the year, after the Imperial Economic Conference in July, only one tariff change was announced by the Finance Minister, Hon. E. N. Rhodes. Arrangements under which repair parts for foreign-made farm implements were imported at reduced tariff rates, were extended until March 31, 1933.

With hundreds of people lining the galleries, every member in the Chamber leaning forward in rapt attention, a tall, slender man, immaculately clad in black morning coat, delivered his first budget speech. Mr. Rhodes is another in the long line of Maritimers—he is a son of Nova Scotia—who has directed the financial affairs of Canada. Not a single interruption punctuated his speech, which lasted slightly over an hour. And, curiously enough, another Maritimer, J. L. Ralston, the financial critic of the Liberals, will lead off the budget debate next Monday.

The increased sales tax will become effective immediately. The excise tax on imports also was automatic. The insurance taxes will apply to premiums paid after January 1, 1932. The special taxes on cheques, telegrams, telephone calls and railway berths will come into force May 2.

CUT IN EXPENDITURES

Wielding a drastic pruning knife, the Finance Minister cut the estimated expenditures for the present fiscal year to $369,900,000, with considering capital expenditures. Apart from money spent for unemployment relief and wheat bonusing, the corresponding figure in the year just ended was $404,900,000.

On the other side of the ledger was $319,100,001—the amount of money existing taxation would gather if left untouched. Obviously this would result in a deficit for the year. Accordingly taxation was increased to a point where an estimated additional total of $55,000,000 would be collected, "thus balancing the current expenditures and leaving a surplus of $4,300,000."

PRESERVATION OF CREDIT

"In proposing these additional measures of taxation," said Mr. Rhodes, "consideration has been given on the one hand to the ability of our people to bear the extra burden and, on the other, to the absolute necessity of placing our financial house in order." Later, he said "The preservation of our national credit is an indispensable prerequisite to the return of prosperity."

"It is the considered view of the Government," said Mr. Rhodes, "that reductions in expenditures on the one hand and proposed additions to the taxation revenues on the other will represent in the final outcome, a complete balancing of the budget on the usual current governmental services."

Mr. Peacock refused to make a statement to the press after the conference.

BEAUTIES WILL ENTER CONTEST

Home Products Fair Will Hold Competition and Also Will Stage Baby Show

The Home Products Fair, to commence here on Monday, April 18, and which will continue throughout that whole week, is to have a baby contest and also a bathing beauty show. In carrying out the idea of the fair, the entertainment committee has decided that entries in both of these competitions must be Victoria born.

The baby show will be held on Wednesday afternoon, April 20. The infants must be under two years of age, and in making entry at the office of the Chamber of Commerce satisfactory proof must be given that the child was born in Victoria and falls within the required age. A doctor's certificate as to the date and place of birth of the infant will be accepted.

In connection with the bathing beauty contest, the entrants will be required to present themselves at the Armory for twenty minutes on the final evening of the fair, Saturday, April 23. No swimming contest is included. The contestants will be given a very wide choice as to the costume to be adopted for the occasion. Particulars can be obtained from the office of the Chamber of Commerce.

There will be competent judges named by the committee for the awarding of the prizes in each class. For the bathing beauties the first prize will be $25, while in the case of the babies the first award will be $10. There will be other prizes also given in each case.

New Houses To Be Built In Esquimalt

With the coming of Spring and warmer weather, building in Victoria and surrounding municipalities is steadily increasing and within the last three days three building permits for new residences have been issued by H. F. Bourne, municipal engineer, from the Esquimalt Municipal Hall.

A seven-roomed house, valued at $3,600, will be erected on Haig Street by E. A. Earle. The contracting work will be done by Thomas Gwilt. The exterior of the new building will be in rustic work.

A permit for a five-roomed stucco bungalow to be built on Old Esquimalt Road has been taken out by Mrs. J. Burnett. This building is valued at $3,000 and the contract has been awarded to G. Lamerton.

The third residence will be constructed by day labor on Clent Street for Andrew Calderwood. This house, valued at $2,750, will be a five-roomed stucco bungalow.

PROVINCE TAKES FULL ADVANTAGE OF GRANTS MADE

Replying in the Legislature this week to a statement made by Thomas Reid, M.P., in the Federal House, Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe showed that British Columbia had been foremost in taking benefits under the system of Dominion grants to technical education during the ten-year operation of the plan.

All the money to which British Columbia was entitled had been drawn and applied for the purpose during the operation of the scheme. Reopening of the plan to enable other provinces to complete their quota in no way affected British Columbia, which had taken full advantage of the measure, it was shown.

British Columbia drew $623,079 in all under the scheme, and had been generously treated, he stated.

PREMIER ANNOUNCES MEETING ON SATURDAY

OTTAWA, April 6.—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett officially announced today that the Dominion-Provincial unemployment conference would convene in Ottawa next Saturday. This date was recently suggested to the Provinces, and advices have now been received from practically all the Provinces that the date is acceptable and they will have representatives on hand for the parley

Redistribution Of Profits Is Being Proposed

Representatives of Vancouver and Victoria civic authorities proposed to the Government this week that rearrangement be made of the distribution of liquor profits to British Columbia municipalities on a basis that would lessen some of the burden of social service costs in these centres.

The proposal, in brief, was that the Government deduct from the liquor profits available for the municipalities the total bill of civic liability or social services, making disbursement of the balance of the liquor profits on a basis of school population.

Professor Drinks Acid by Mistake

LIVERPOOL, April 6 (AP).—Professor James Foote, master of science at a local technical school, died in his classroom today when he picked up a beaker of acid from his desk, mistaking it for water, and drank it.

He fell to the floor, writhing in agony, and died in a few moments. He was in the midst of a lecture and reached for a drink of water to ease his throat.

HOUSE PUSHES ITS ESTIMATES

Few Votes Left as Result of Midnight Sitting, on Expenditures

Sitting until past midnight, the Legislature virtually completed passage of the remainder of its estimates, all save two votes, which will be reached some time today.

Capital expenditures out of revenue were passed at $3,357,582, composed of $2,098,682 in sinking funds, $352,000 for debenture retirement, and $907,200 for interest on P.G.E. bond guarantees. Supplementary estimates in respect to last year, were passed at $310,365, after being detailed.

Provision of charges on the public debt was made at $6,218,379. Maturities this year, it was explained by Hon. J. W. Jones, will include $6,015,000 payable in New York.

COMPLAINS POLICE BOARD INTERFERED

suspicions, the chief obtained evidence of the sale of tickets and applied for a search warrant for premises at 642 Yates Street, occupied by the club.

An application, it is stated, was then made by the city police for a search warrant for the club premises. Inspector Boulton laid the information in the case on behalf of the department. Magistrate Jay issued the warrant.

COMMISSIONERS APPEAR

Then, according to the formal complaint of His Worship, the instructions were alleged to have been issued to Chief Heatley by a majority of the commissioners not to proceed further with the case. Mayor David Leeming, it was expressly stated, did not attempt to interfere in any way with the police in the carrying out to execution of the orders as contained in the warrant.

Magistrate Jay, on finding that the warrant had not been executed, asked Chief Heatley for an explanation, and such was frankly given to the effect that acting on the authority of his superiors, the majority members of the Police Commission, the raid had not been conducted.

FORMAL COMPLAINT

Upon receipt of this information, Magistrate Jay made formal complaint that the judicial processes of his court were being interfered with by two members of the commission, Mr. McGavin and Mrs. North.

The allegation that the machinery of the courts of justice was being tampered with was of such a grave character that the Attorney-General gave immediate orders to the Provincial Police to give full support to the magistrate in the enforcement of the search warrant issued out of his court. Provincial Police thereupon, accompanied by Inspector Boulton of the city department, who had sworn to the information upon which the order for search was issued, raided the Yates Street headquarters. The raiding party was led by Sergeant R. Harvey, and included Corporal Sperry Cline and Constables A. G. Carmichael and T. A. Flander.

SEIZURE DETAILS

The officers seized approximately 30,000 blank "membership certificates," and books containing, on a rough estimate, 1,000 stubs similar to those attached to the "membership certificates." Piles of correspondence were also seized and these will be examined by police.

The membership certificates set out that: "This certificate entitles the member whose name appears hereon to all privileges of the club." It further stipulates that "a meeting of the members will be held on Saturday, May 26, for the transaction of business."

ACTION MAY FOLLOW

What action will follow examination of the effects obtained in the seizure was not indicated. The main issue that is involved in the raid yesterday afternoon was the mobilizing of law enforcement machinery of the Provincial Government in support of the authority of the magistrate's court.

Immediate developments will include whatever action the Provincial Government will take towards reorganization of the City Police Commission.

ST. JOHN'S COOLS OFF AS PREMIER RETURNS TO CITY

you to go quietly to your homes and during the next few days I and my party will use every lawful means to have your rightful demands satisfied. We are exercising ourselves to the utmost to insure the Government's resignation. Remember that no man should break the law. I guarantee justice shall be done."

Squads of special police, including detachments of ex-service men, patroled the city today and had the situation generally well in hand.

CONSIDERING PLAN

It was decided to adjourn the Legislature from day to day until some plan of action can be evolved. Sir William Coaker, Minister without Portfolio and veteran leader of the Newfoundland Fishermen's Protective Union, is on record as favoring a National Government headed by F. C. Alderdice, Opposition leader, but plans had not advanced to that stage tonight.

The disturbance responsible for the unsettled state of political affairs occurred yesterday, when delay in admitting a deputation from 10,000 citizens, who sought to present a resolution asking for "proper investigation" of charges that the Premier had falsified minutes of council, worked the crowd into an angry mood.

LADY SQUIRES HURT

Lady Helena Squires, who also sits in the Assembly, was seen to leave the building with a bandage about her head in the company of other members. It was believed she had been struck by one of the missiles hurled at the windows from the street.

Tonight 850 ex-service men and civilians had been enrolled for special police duty, and 200 more were waiting to be sworn. The whole city was under patrol with guards posted at various public buildings and business houses. Torrents of rain had a chilling effect on any rioters who may have wished to continue the disturbance.

CARNATION is whole milk with only the natural water-content removed and nothing added. Carnation is the famous safe-guarded milk "from Contented Cows." That means that every precaution is taken to insure its purity at the source by the strictest cleanliness in the care and in the milking of the cows. After Carnation is evaporated to double richness the cans are then hermetically sealed to continue the protection until Carnation reaches you.

What Expert Cooks Tell Us

Domestic Science experts have found that Carnation makes foods richer, tastier, finer in texture. They say that the "homogenized" butter-fat in Carnation makes it super-smooth. Council Will Be Petitioned to Seek Reduction in Telephone Charges

The City Council will be petitioned by the Trades and Labor Council to approach the B.C. Telephone Company with a view to obtaining a reduction in monthly telephone charges to users, it was announced last night.

The Trades and Labor Council, at its meeting last night, passed a resolution to this effect, supplemented by an argument in which the reasons for the request were set out.

It was contended that twenty cents a month was added to telephone charges some years ago when employees of the telephone company received an increase in pay.

It was further contended that this increase should be eliminated and whatever saving may have been made by the installation of dial tone telephones should be passed on to the users.

SEE PROSPECTS OF IMPROVEMENT

Canadian Bank of Commerce Points to Better Conditions in Business of Dominion

TORONTO, April 6 (CP).—Prospects of improvement in the economic position of the Canadian people are seen in the monthly letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, issued tonight, which points to better conditions in agricultural areas, depletion of stocks in the fishing industry and the near advent of the tourist season.

Surveys of conditions in various agricultural areas of the country undertaken by the bank indicate improved moisture conditions, while the same sources reveal "a steady recovery in the position of farmers (in the Prairie Provinces) and that a general adjustment to changed conditions has taken place."

The letter notes stocks of fish held in storage are now moving into consumptive channels and sees the new season opening "without the handicap of abnormally large stocks, as was the case last year."

Noting recent reductions in ocean travel rates, which it suggests may divert some tourist traffic from Canada, the letter sees in them the possibility of attracting to this country, in conjunction with steamship companies, a transpacific tourist trade with beneficial results both to the Dominion and to the shipping industry.

ANNIVERSARY OF AERIE OBSERVED

Victoria Eagles Commemorate Granting of Charter Thirty-Three Years Ago

The thirty-third anniversary of the granting of the charter to the Victoria Aerie, No. 12, Fraternal Order of Eagles, was suitably commemorated at a birthday celebration held in the hall on Government Street last night.

Frank LeRoy, past state president, and charter member of the local aerie, gave an interesting address to the large gathering on the history and activities of the order. During his association with the order, he had seen it grow from small numbers to its present large standing, Mr. LeRoy said. He also referred to the excellent nation-wide work that the order does for its members.

Of the forty-two charter members of Victoria Aerie, Mr. LeRoy and the following are all that remain: J. M. Hughes, J. McDonald, Philip Crombie, H. Sedenbaum and J. Meldram. These members were all present and were accorded a hearty reception. Junior Past President C. H. Lester was welcomed back after an illness which prevented him from attending the meetings for eight weeks.

To observe the anniversary, many members of the organization attended special anniversary services at the Messiah Church last Sunday, when Rev. Douglas Bevan conducted the service.

HERO OF THE BRIDGE IS FINED FOR HIS ACT

SYDNEY, Australia, April 6 (CP).—The maximum penalty of a fine of £5 was imposed by Magistrate Laidlaw today on Major de Groot, formerly of the Royal Hussars, for maliciously damaging the ceremonial ribbon and threatening a police officer at the formal opening of the great Sydney Harbor Bridge on March 19.

De Groot, supposed to be a member of the anti-Communist organization, the "New Guard," was the horseman who dashed through a throng of officials, including Premier J. T. Lang, of New South Wales, and slashed the ribbon with his sword, declaring the bridge open in the "Name of the people of New South Wales."

Distribute Gifts—Fred Landsberg, accompanied by Harold D. Patterson, paid his usual monthly visit to the Home for Aged Men and distributed the usual donation of $2 to all nonpensioners. Cigars, a monthly gift from J. A. Merrick, were also distributed.

Breach of Regulations — J. Savident was fined $5 and $2 costs for a breach of the fishing regulations by Police Magistrate George Jay in Provincial Police Court yesterday afternoon. Mr. Savident stated he was a novice at fishing from a boat and therefore was not familiar with the regulations.

Concert Tonight — A free concert will be held tonight in the Citizens' Recreation Room at Fort and Langley Streets for the unemployed. The following artists will assist: Miss Large, Messrs. G. Guy, T. E. David, W. Harkness, T. Goodlake, L. Llewellyn, F. T. C. Wickett, T. R. Wickett and Master D. Grosse.

To Overhaul Machine—A request from Chief of Police Delmar Hodnett to have the police motorcycle overhauled for the Summer work was received and granted at a meeting of the Esquimalt Police Commission last night. Another request for boots and a new uniform was also granted by the board.

Gives Impressions — Ex-Mayor J. Carl Pendray will address the Victoria Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting today in the Empress Hotel on "My Impressions of Honolulu." The nominating committee will be announced by the board at the meeting. The Spokes Club will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of Rotarian Arthur Brown, 1404 Harrison Street.

To Consider Estimates — Further consideration of the municipal estimates for 1932 will be given by members of the Saanich Council at a meeting at Royal Oak tonight. Although the board has received no definite word as to what action the Provincial Government will take with municipal grants, preliminary work in preparing the estimates will be completed. The monthly meeting of the police commission will precede the council meeting.

Will Talk on Manchuria — Members of the Victoria Men's Canadian Club will hear an address on "Manchuria" at a luncheon meeting to be held in the Empress Hotel tomorrow afternoon at 12:15 o'clock. The guest speaker will be Thomas McInnes, former resident of Canton, China, and now living in Vancouver, who has made a careful study of the present China-Japanese situation. As this address is of particular current interest, a large attendance of members is anticipated.

Police Reports—Reports of the activities of the Esquimalt police force during February and March were submitted by Chief Delmar Hodnett at a meeting of the Esquimalt Police Commission last night. The February report indicated that $301 had been collected in fines and taxes during the month, while sixty complaints and one fire call had been answered. During March, $157 was collected and seventy-nine complaints were answered. There were also two accidents reported during the latter month.

Illustrated Lecture—An appreciative audience was given an insight into joys and hardships of the fur trading industry in the early days on this Coast, together with an outline of early Eskimo life, when C. H. French, former fur commissioner for the Hudson's Bay Company, gave an illustrated lecture in the Sir James Douglas School Tuesday night. The entertainment was held under the auspices of the Sir James Douglas Parent-Teacher Association, and was the first of a series to be given by different prominent lecturers.

Addresses Nurses—Miss E. Brown, who acted as secretary of the nursing survey recently completed by Dr. George M. Weir, addressed the local section of the Graduate Nurses' Association recently. She analyzed the report from the nurses' point of view, and commented that it was one of the greatest contributions ever made to the profession, and should prove epoch-making in respect of such matters as state health insurance, registration of nurses with consideration of their respective capacities and municipal nursing. Miss Meta Hodge, who presided, warmly thanked the speaker for her interesting talk.

HAVE NO MONEY FOR ROAD WORK

Small Allowance Made for Repairs in Esquimalt, Reeve States

Indication that little road work will be done in Esquimalt this year unless the municipality is successful in securing at least a portion of the taxes on property in the municipality owned by the Hudson's Bay Company, was given by Reeve Albert Heald at a meeting of the Esquimalt Police Commission last last.

The matter arose during a discussion on whether or not the board could afford to buy a new car for police force use. Reeve Heald stated that it was necessary to practise strict economy and such a move was not absolutely necessary. "This taxation is becoming a serious thing and an increase in taxation has been made from $5 to $5.25 on every $1,000 assessment and this increase does not allow very much roadwork," he declared.

"Unless the Hudson's Bay Company pays a portion of its taxes this year, little roadwork will be possible under the present rate of taxation," the reeve continued.

There are approximately thirty miles of highways in the municipalit open to traffic and while there is little roadwork necessary, there has been no allowance made for unforeseen circumstances.

dependent. No exemption is allowed nonresidents, or single persons, including widows and widowers, without dependent children.

Exemptions under the special revenue tax will not apply, when the new bill becomes law. Husbands and wives with separate incomes will receive only $500 combined exemption, but exemptions for children in such cases may be apportioned between them. The rate of taxation, as explained in the budget, will commence at 1 per cent on the first $1,000 of income, being progressively increased by 1 per cent on each additional $1,000 up to $19,000.

HOW IT WORKS

Not as the rate of tax, but as the net effect the following taxable proportion of incomes will pay the total equivalent percentages shown in parenthesis: $1,000 (1 per cent); $2,000 (1¼ per cent); $3,000 (2 per cent); $4,000 (2¼ per cent); $5,000 (3 per cent); and so on by half per cent stages up to $19,000 of taxable income, where the proportion paid in taxes would be 10 per cent, continuing at that rate to $50,000.

The 1 per cent deductions on wages will continue, but the exemptions of $15 and $25 weekly will be removed, and the new provisions apply, Mr. Jones continued. "Thereafter employers will be required to deduct 1 per cent from the wages of all their employees, excepting in occasional domestic service for which not more than $5 is paid," he explained.

NO 1931 REFUNDS

"The tax imposed by last year's special revenue tax act constitutes the minimum tax payable on the income assessed thereunder, and no refunds of taxes paid under that act can be made." Mr. Jones stated at another point.

"In future, however, deductions made by an employer from an employee's wages in excess of the tax due under the new act will be refunded to the employee upon receipt of his return of income," continued the Minister of Finance. This will apply on incomes after the calendar year 1931, expressly dealt with by the previous remarks.

TIME EXTENDED MONTH

"In view of the uncertainty attendant on changes of acts, the commissioner will exercise the authority given him to extend time for filing returns this year to April 30, but returns may be submitted on the forms originally in use, and the appropriate exemptions will be applied by the assessing staff. Employers will continue to make returns as to deductions, as heretofore. Everyone in receipt of an income from any source in excess of the exemptions must file a return. All 1932 taxes will be payable on receipt of an assessment notice as formerly.

"Commencing with the 1933 assessment year, taxpayers will be required to calculate their own tax, and pay at least one-quarter of the estimated amount with their returns. The balance of the tax may be paid in three installments, with interest at 6 per cent. A penalty of an additional 4 per cent is provided for overdue payments.

CORPORATION CHANGES

"Guarantee, trust and loan companies and public utility corporations, formerly taxed on gross income are now made liable to the tax on net income, to the extent that this tax exceeds the tax payable on their gross income.

"Ex-provincial incomes will be taxable whether brought into the province or not, unless derived from investments made before the taxpayer became a resident of the province.

"Income in the hands of co-operative marketing associations will be exempt, but distributions to farmer members will be taxable in their hands, on incomes over $1,000," Mr. Jones concluded.

TO PREPARE BUSINESS MEN FOR CONFERENCE

MONTREAL, April 6.—As a prelude to the forthcoming Imperial Conference at Ottawa this Summer, Colonel W. L. McGregor, of Windsor, Ont., president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, will start next week on a coast to coast tour of Canada to prepare Canadian business men for the conference, it was announced here.

Accompanying Colonel McGregor will be W. M. Birks, of Montreal vice-president of the Federation of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire; S. B. Gundy, of Toronto, and W. McL. Clarke, secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

Drama Festival Attracts Continued Big Support

Two Programmes Yesterday Produce Further Evidences of Strong Dramatic Talent Among Juveniles and Adults of City

Several further excellent contributions were made to the B.C. Drama Festival in the two programmes presented yesterday. Now that the affair is drawing to a close it seems a pity that some form of adjudication was not arranged so that, after the manner of the Musical Festival, a symposium of the best plays could have been given to conclude the undertaking with a fine flourish. In any event, the experiment has been so successful that plans are already being discussed for making it an annual event.

Another capacity audience was present last evening, and much enthusiasm was shown over two or three of the presentations. Especially interesting and attractive were "The Philosopher in the Orchard," L. Bullock-Webster's dramatization of "A Dolly Dialogue," in which the actors were from the B.C. Dramatic School; "A Calamity," played by the Thespis Club, and "Snowed Up With a Duchess," presented by the Linlan Dramatic Group. These were all excellent dramas, admirably suited to such an occasion and showing finesse in production. The Electra Dramatic Club's offering, "The Family Failing," and Christ Church Cathedral Dramatic Club's playlet, "Perfect Service," completed the night's programme.

TALENTED ACTORS

"The Philosopher in the Orchard" employs the theme of a girl in love with a preoccupied professor, whose interest in her shy romance she only succeeds in arousing vicariously by presenting the case to him in the third person. Ara Hayne played the part of the shy Miss May with delicacy and charm, and Herbert Hewett was very natural as the preoccupied professor, Dr. Jerningham. L. Bullock-Webster directed this.

A racy modern society theme is the subject of "A Calamity." Derick Lane's rather complicated social habits pave the way for a quarrel with his fiancee, Cleo Holmes, with Kathleen Carlisle holding the third position in the triangle, and Johnson as the butler. Henry Worthington played the part of the worldly Derick with unswerving assurance, and Mary Martin and Audrey Hadow shared the honors with admirable acting in the roles of Kathleen and Cleo respectively. W. Boorman was a good butler.

THE LINLANS

Noel Cusack, in "Snowed Up With the Duchess," had a role very similar to that in "The Lyrebird," as Mrs. Cholmondely-Jones, again acting the part of a sophisticated woman aspiring to higher connections, but mistaking the identity of the person she intends using as her ladder. She held the role true to type, and Marian Corby and Betty Norris, in the respective parts of the Duchess and the French dressmaker, played with good definition of each character. Nellie Scowcroft, in the part of Mrs. Hodge, was also excellent. This was directed by Marian Corby.

The cast of "The Family Failing" included Syble Grant, Jennie Boyd; Mrs. Hunter, Billy Osler, Winnie White, Don Galey, Lilly Rendle and Frank Rendle, and the players in "Perfect Service" were Phyllis McIntosh, William McPhee and Warwick Rawson. A. W. Semple directed the former, and Betty Shaw the latter.

THE MATINEE

Five groups of junior players appeared at the matinee performance. Here, again, the benefits of adjudication would soon bear fruit, both in the type of play selected and in some details of staging and acting. Some of the material was delightful, but even some of this would have been improved by judicious cutting.

That there is a great deal of well-tutored juvenile talent in the city was quite apparent even in the small selection offered by the Dwarf Theatre Juveniles in "Echo," directed by Helen Coton; Sefton College's "Afterwards," directed by Miss E. F. Roberts; St. Margaret's School's "Catherine Parr" (Maurice Baring), directed by Miss Rosemary Bay; the Fairfield Juniors' "Lake Dore" (Middleton), directed by Mrs. G. Nixon, and the Victoria School of Expression's "Bo-Peep" (G. Egerton Lowe), directed by Mrs. Ord, with Evelyn Valiant as accompanist.

Relief Work Lessens Budget Report of Friendly Help

Nineteen members and Alderman R. T. Williams representing the city council, attended the meeting of the Friendly Help Association, held Tuesday morning. Mrs. Cullum, the president, presided. A letter was received from Mr. F. E. Winslow, asking for a representative to attend a meeting to be held this evening to discuss recommendations in the report of Mrs. Cameron Parker.

The expenditure for the month of March was considerably less, due to families coming under the relief work scheme; 112 families, representing 280 persons, were dealt with. Seventeen new cases applied during the month; 295 grocery orders, 213 meat orders, sixty coal orders and forty-four wood orders were issued and fifty-five families were supplied with milk daily; 108 families were supplied with clothing, 105 with provisions and thirty-six with sundry articles; fifty-eight received hot cross buns, thirty-eight got eggs and five were given jam at Easter.

The association tenders special thanks to those who helped the office staff so materially in carrying out their work at the busy time.

The society reports that the clothing supply is sadly depleted owing to the unusual demand during the wet weather, and donations of all kinds, cash, clothing, vegetables, fruit, jam, eggs, etc., will be most thankfully received at the rooms.

Children do better on VIROL

"I now take children off Cod Liver Oil and Malt to put them on Virol because very many of the more delicate and anaemic children suffering from wasting cannot take Cod Liver Oil and Malt, as it upsets the already weak digestion they have, and this is my experience from many thousands of children."

Children love their Virol in porridge or milk, or on bread-and-butter, biscuits, etc.

DAFFODIL TEA IS PLEASING AFFAIR

King's Daughters' Annual Party Held at "Schuhuum" Attended by Large Number of Guests

Daffodils in all their Spring glory were much in evidence at the annual daffodil tea held yesterday afternoon by the King's Daughters at "Schuhuum," through kind permission of Miss Agnew, the affair attracting a particularly large number of guests, who were welcomed by Mrs. L. Tolmie, Mrs. David Leeming, Mrs. James Stewart, Miss Margaret Ross, provincial president of the King's Daughters, and the following members of the executive: Mrs. R. C. Playfair, Mrs. R. R. ENGLISH MUSIC RECITAL THEME

Musical Arts Society Delights Audience With Programme

The Victoria Musical Arts Society held its last recital of the season last evening at the Shrine Hall, a very appreciative audience attending under the direction of Mr. Stanley Bulley, A.R.C.O., L.R.A.M., who prefaced each of the works with a few remarks explanatory of the music which followed, the programme opened with a delightfully light and dainty number by the orchestra, "A Little Night Music" (Mozart), which was a delightful forerunner to the numbers which followed, most of which were splendid examples of contemporary work.

Perhaps the outstanding numbers were the St. Paul's Suite by Gustav Holst, which revealed the composer's leaning towards the English folk-song melodies, and which contained occasional glimpses of solo violin passages which were beautifully played by Mrs. Leeder and Mrs. Bennett. This suite was composed in 1913 and is described as "mostly English in character, with a touch of sentimentalism in the intermezzo." In the last movement, the tunes, "Dargason" and "Greensleeves" are used in combination.

"THE EARLY SPRING SUN"

Modern work for choir and orchestra was represented by Lake's "The Early Spring Sun," in which the solo part was beautifully sung by Mrs. Gladys Slark, the missing woodwind and horn parts being played by the accompanist, Miss Maquinna Daniels. This number conforms to the modern idea where the sections flow on without interruption, the sections being "In the Country," "In the City," "The Schoolboy," and "Spring Thoughts Alone."

Three madrigals characterized by the sweet simplicity of the musical period to which they belong captivated the audience by the freshness and old-world charm. In "Flora Gave Me Fairest Flowers," the parts were woven together with artistic freedom. The other two numbers in this group were: "April Is in My Mistress' Face" and "Sweet Honey-Sucking Bee."

EXQUISITE NUMBERS

Miss Meta Ritchie contributed three exquisite Debussy numbers, "The Mandolin," "Her Hair," atmospheric and whimsical, and "Evening Fair," a distinctly modern composition in which the major interest lay in the accompaniment, played by Mr. Stanley Bulley.

The announcement that Gustav Holst will lecture for the society on May 30, on the subject of "England and Her Music" was of great interest to the audience, after hearing his famous "St. Paul's Suite."

A beautiful basket of flowers was phesented to Mr. Bulley in appreciation of his enterprise and work in training the choir.

Bridge Tea To Be Held At Colquitz

The members of Strawberry Vale Women's Institute held their monthly meeting at Colquitz Hall on Tuesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Harper, occupied the chair. Mrs. Austin gave a gratifying report of the bridge tea which was held on St. Patrick's Day, and arrangements were made by Mrs. Austin and Mrs. Harper to convene another bridge tea at Colquitz Hall on Thursday, April 21, together with a sale of home cooking. Proceedings will commence at 2 o'clock, and intending players are requested to bring their own cards and score pads. The report of the treasurer showed that the funds of the Institute are in a satisfactory condition.

Among the correspondence was a communication from a local milk company, asking that the attention of the members be directed to the fact that the operation of their plant at South Sumas is of considerable benefit to the farmers in the Chilliwack district. The company also sent a useful and attractive cook book, and the secretary was instructed to send for several copies. Tentative plans were made for the annual community fair, particulars of which will be announced later.

The members accepted the invitation of the secretary to have the next meeting at her home. At the conclusion of the business session, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Hall served afternoon tea, and the members enjoyed a pleasant social half hour. The attendance at the fortnightly card parties is well sustained, refreshments are served and good prizes given, and a cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested in this form of entertainment to be present at these social gatherings.

Blind Will Benefit by Party Given by Chapter

The April meeting of the Robert Burns McMicking Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held in the municipal rooms on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, with eighteen members in attendance, Mrs. Bolt, regent, in the chair.

The reports of the secretary, Miss Tressie Gilliland, and the treasurer, Mrs. J. Hanbury, were read and adopted; and the secretary also read all correspondence received during the past month, and the report of the regular monthly meeting of the provincial executive committee. A new member, Miss Eleanor Cudlip, was welcomed into the chapter by Mrs. Bolt.

ANNIVERSARY TEA

Final arrangements were made regarding the anniversary tea to be held in the social rooms of the Y.W.C.A. on Saturday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. At this tea will be displayed and sold the articles made by the blind of this city. These articles are excellently made and are moderately priced, and it is to be hoped that a substantial sum will be the result of this sale, in order that the blind folk will be encouraged in their brave work, and also assisted materially. Miss Hilda Margetts will convene the sale of articles made by the blind; Miss Marjorie Watson will have charge of a delightful programme to be given during the afternoon, and Mrs. H. W. Davey will act as convener for the afternoon tea.

ANNUAL EXCURSION

Discussion followed with regard to ways and means of raising money for the chapter funds. It was decided to continue the annual excursion on July 1, and this will possibly take the form of an all-day cruise or a moonlight excursion. Miss Elsie Jenkins was appointed to look into this matter and report at the next meeting.

It was decided, in future, to make every other meeting of the chapter a social event, in order that the new and old members may become better acquainted with each other. The next meeting, to be held on May 3 at the municipal rooms, will take the form of a social, with Mrs. Bolt, Miss Claire Allan, Miss Emily Anderson and Miss Pearl Barbour in charge of refreshments.

Daffodil Tea Gay Affair at City Temple

With Spring flowers in profusion at the City Temple Hall, more than 150 guests attended the daffodil tea given yesterday afternoon by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Victoria City Temple. Mrs. Bertha Parsons, the president, was the hostess, each person upon arrival being presented with daffodils.

The tea proved one of the most outstanding affairs for this season, the conveners of the refreshments being Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Williams and Miss Mabel Johnston, while the decorations were supervised by Mrs. G. Herd and Mrs. Bond. A splendid programme, arranged by Mrs. Semple, was given during the afternoon, when the church orchestra played and several other artists rendered delightful selections.

During the afternoon several contests were held, Mrs. Grace Deaville receiving the crystal tree, while Miss Elsie Findlay was awarded the box of chocolates. The proceeds will go towards the church funds.

Chemainus I.O.D.E. Postpone Card Party

CHEMAINUS, April 6. — The monthly meeting of the Porter Chapter, I.O.D.E., Chemainus, was held in the Calvary Baptist Church with the regent, Mrs. Southin, in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. J. Russell Robinson, who also gave a report on Child Welfare for the past month.

The birthday card party, which was scheduled for Friday, April 8, has been postponed until Friday, May 6. It was decided to purchase material for an embroidered counterpane, members and friends to volunteer to embroider the separate blocks.

An invitation to the Guide display on Tuesday, April 26, was accepted and all members are requested to attend, wearing their badges. Material for six pairs of children's pajamas was on display, which will be part of the equipment of the Halhed memorial cot in the Chemainus General Hospital. Tea hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Alex. Work and Miss White.

YOUNG PEOPLE WILL VISIT OBSERVATORY

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Y.P.S. opened its weekly meeting with prayer given by Mr. Lester, who also gave an interesting talk on "Prayers." Mr. Allan Anderson read the scripture. A short business meeting followed. Before closing the meeting, game charades were enjoyed by all. Those wishing to visit Gonzales Observatory next Monday evening are asked to meet at the end of the Foul Bay car line at 8 o'clock.

INSECT WAR IS MORE INTENSIVE

Battle With Pests Becomes Serious, William Downes Tells Victoria Horticulturists

"As years go by, the fight against insects becomes more intensive, more scientific and more serious," declared William Downes, Provincial entomologist, during the course of an address at the monthly meeting of the Victoria Horticultural Society. A capacity audience of Victoria gardeners attended the meeting and learned much valuable information from the address.

Mr. Downes stated that, instead of getting better, conditions were getting worse, as new pests are constantly being introduced. Last year, he continued, two new pests were introduced in Victoria which were of great importance, the privet aphis and the lawn beetle.

INSECTS HAVE ADVANTAGE

Referring to the battle which is constantly being waged against insects, Mr. Downes pointed out the tremendous advantage that the insects have. They are the most numerous of animal life on the globe, he said. More than one-third of animal life is made up of insects, representing more than three million kinds known, with more coming. Among the factors which tend to keep insects under control are parasites and diseases, the weather and lack of proper food. Diseases, he stated, were the most potent factor.

The speaker then gave a list of the most common insects and the remedies for their control, specifying the necessary ingredients for sprays.

The privet aphis, he explained, arrived in Victoria last year and has proved a serious menace to gardeners. There has only been one occurrence of the lawn beetle here, he said. The best remedy for the earwig, Mr. Downes continued, was poisoned bait.

INGREDIENTS FOR SPRAYS

An outline of the ingredients for sprays to control holly leaf miner, leaf roller, rose sawfly, aphids, chrysanthemum miner, lilac leaf miner and cutworms was also given. In the case of the narcissus fly, no satisfactory remedy had been found for its control, he declared. One method was the hot water treatment, which necessitated special apparatus for heating the bulbs at 110½ degrees Fahrenheit.

Following the address Mr. Downes answered a number of questions by the members, after which a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to him.

The results of the monthly competitions were: Vegetables, 1, A. M. Scott; 2, Albert Smith; flowers, 1, Mrs. Darcus; 2, E. M. Whyte.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

RAPID HEART BEAT

Sometimes you discover that your heart is beating very rapidly and about the time you become anxious about it, the rate of beating gradually decreases and becomes normal again.

It may be that you can account for the rapid rate as you have been excited or anxious about something, you may have received news that excited or upset you, either by letter or telephone; perhaps you have eaten considerable food and gas pressure from the stomach is interfering with the regular rate of the heart action.

On the other hand, it may be that these attacks or rapid heart beating come on at any time, when you are sitting or lying down and are free from any of above conditions.

When the heart begins beating rapidly, not due to exercise, it is spoken of as paroxysmal tachycardia which simply means a rapidly increasing heart rate which reaches a very high rate and then comes back to normal again, just as in an attack of asthma the patient breathes rapidly and seems scarcely able to get his breath, and then is back to normal again.

Between the attacks of these rapid beating spells the patient is usually quite free from any disturbance in the heart rate.

While it is true that these attacks may be due to actual organic ailments, in a large percentage of cases it is due to what is called a functional or nervous disturbance.

However, the patient when the attack comes on is only interested in getting the heart back to its normal rate, because it is uncomfortable to have the heart beating 160 times or more to the minute.

How can this be stopped?

I've seen one case where simply pressing on the eyeballs has stopped the rapid beating, and another case where pressure over the stomach was successful.

Dr. J. C. Healy, Boston, says that while there are a number of mechanical means that have been used successfully, the same one does not always succeed the second time even on the same case. Other methods suggested are (a) having patient sip cold water and try to breathe out air from the lungs at the same time; (b) pressure above the eyeballs; (c) massaging the skin along the inner side of the large muscle that stands out in the neck when the head is turned sideways; (d) pressure on the notch in the front part of the neck where the two collar bones meet.

Although digitalis is used in heart ailments more than any other drug, and is also used in this condition, it would seem that quinidine sulphate (not quinine sulphate) is even more efficient than digitalis in this particular ailment. It must of course be used under the direction of a physician.

What Today Means

"ARIES"

If April 7 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:50 a.m. to 11 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m., and from 8 p.m. to 9:20 p.m. The danger periods are from noon to 1:30 p.m., and from 6 p.m. to 7:40 p.m.

Unsettled conditions are prophesied for April 7, and events and circumstances will give lie to most hopes and conjectures of the previous day. It will be a time of sewing and planting rather than a time of harvest. A hectic time for young people.

The child born on this April 7 will have a pensive and an impressionable nature, and will be greatly influenced by its surroundings and associates. It will love reading and the less strenuous games, but will not care for an overly active life. It will demand a great deal of love and affection, and will need considerable outside stimulation.

Born on April 7, you have neither a cheerful or optimistic nature and are down in the mouth much of the time. You often live tied down, as you think, by circumstances which debar you going further than your eyes can see. You are afraid to make any leap unless you know exactly where you are going to land, and even then you feel you must have a clear, running jump, unhampered by any outside opposition. You are over anxious to always do the right thing and even after you have made a decision, handicap your actions by vague doubts and apprehension. Your post-mortems should be done away with.

You give a tremendous attention to trifles, thus making your work laborious and your life altogether more difficult. You allow yourself to become upset by incidents unworthy of the importance you give them. You are not slipshod about your work, and are very proud about your personal appearance. You have a very good memory, especially for those things in which your feelings have been affected. You never forget a slight or injury.

If you be a woman, your house will never be neglected, although you may make yourself too busy to become a real companion to the rest of your family. You will look after the physical and material wants of your children, but will not be their playmate.

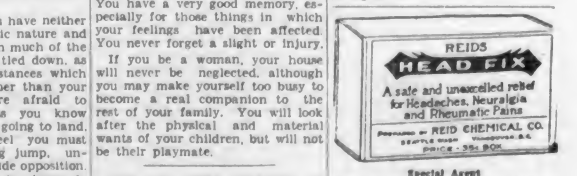

"Are you dining anywhere, tomorrow?"

"No."

"Then you'll be pretty hungry the day after, won't you?

"Young man," said the city merchant severely, "I notice that you are almost invariably from ten to twenty minutes late in getting to the office!"

"I know, sir," replied the youth, "but you seem to set such a small value on my time that I didn't think it mattered much," answered the young man.

Refugees From Shelled Areas Refuse to Go Back —Business Stagnant

"All is quiet on all fronts," states the Shanghai correspondent of The South China Morning Post, "but seemingly no nearer a settlement of any one of the many outstanding issues which caused, or have been caused by, the disastrous invasion of Chapei on January 28. There is no prospect of business reviving, though everyone pretends to deceive himself into believing that 'tomorrow' things should begin to look up, but they don't, and they won't while the future is so uncertain.

"The shops, or some of them, are open, but they might as well be closed for all the business that has been done. The three big stores on the Nanking Road, Sincere, Wing On and Sun Sun, have tried to set an example to other shopkeepers, but their spacious floors are deserted, save for a few stray customers who roam about with that frightened expression so often seen on the faces of country cousins who feel they are intruding when they find themselves in the vast galleries of a great museum.

SAVING THEIR MONEY

"People are not shopping in the sense which means a resumption of normal business conditions. They are buying just enough to feed themselves and in other ways 'keep the home fires burning,' but beyond that they will not spend a cent until the course of future events is more clearly seen. The district of Honkew, for so long under Japanese military occupation, has become more or less normal, and the municipal council has been trying to encourage those who fled the district in the early days of the trouble to go back to their homes and carry on. The municipal police are in control again. A system of distributing passes to all Chinese who could establish their bona-fides as former residents was set in motion, with the idea of making sure that no undesirables should find their way into the district before those who left their property behind had a chance to get back and see what was left of the wreck. There was a tremendous rush for these police passes, and the fact was regarded as a good sign, indicating that the Chinese residents of Hongkew who had sought refuge in more central parts of the International Settlement or the French Concession during the fighting were now anxious to get back to their homes and renew their lawful occupations.

"The municipal council, however, has been very disappointed to find that an overwhelming majority of the Chinese who have applied for passes to enter Hongkew did so with no other intention than to load up as much of their personal property as they possibly could, and bring it away with them to their new homes. For the past four or five days the roads leading from Hongkew across Soochow Creek into the central parts of the Settlement have been crowded with motor-lorries loaded with furniture and personal effects being carried out of Hongkew as fast as coolies can be found to handle them. Most of the residents of this district were Cantonese, and from the tremendous activity seen during the past week in the removal of household belongings, it is quite evident that the presence of municipal police in Hongkew once more does not make that part of the town very much more attractive. The complete disappearance of the Japanese troops, marines, bluejackets, military police and 'volunteers' might possibly induce more Hongkew folk to go back to their old homes, but at present there are no indications of any such exodus.

STANDSTILL AGREEMENT

"Precisely the same position exists with regard to the larger problems of the present situation. 'No negotiation before evacuation' is the slogan now, and this is the sentiment expressed in a message cabled to Dr. W. W. Yen, on behalf of the Chinese business community here. The organizations whose views were represented in this message to China's chief delegate at Geneva, include the leading financiers, merchants and manufacturers of Shanghai, and in pledging solid support of Dr. Yen they intimate very clearly a determination to maintain the 'standstill agreement' which has been tacitly observed ever since the Japanese first advanced into Chapei. This means that by present appearances there is little prospect of any general resumption of trade in Shanghai.

"To some extent, at least, this is the result of circumstances; communications are interrupted or suspended. The military outlook is so uncertain that no merchant or manufacturer feels able to make plans even for a week in advance, and money is extremely tight and credit hard to obtain. Finally there is the sentimental aspect of the situation, and it is very strong. Japan has gone a queer way to work in her endeavor to get the Chinese to lift the boycott, and feeling is now so strong that business men appear to be prepared to sit with folded hands for another six weeks or six months, if need be, rather than enter upon any peace talk while Japanese troops are in occupation of Chinese territory. While this mood of distrust persists, there is no chance for foreign trade picking up in the manner so earnestly hoped by foreign firms whose overhead expenses are still running even though business has stopped."

Mainland Wheat Exports Exceed Last Year's Volume

VANCOUVER, April 6 (CP).—With nearly 3,000,000 bushels reported during the past seven days, the port of Vancouver's wheat movement has passed last year's volume, declares the weekly report of Vancouver Merchants' Exchange.

In the past week port elevators loaded 2,972,023 bushels of grain, bringing the export total of the season to 54,169,714 bushels. Exports at the corresponding time last year were 52,834,046 bushels. There are ships in port to load 1,272,533 bushels, and bookings for the balance of April are 7,700,800 bushels.

Elevator stocks total 14,453,044 bushels, and rail terminal yards here hold cars with 1,623,500 bushels. Rail lines in the province report 767,900 bushels on cars moving west. United Kingdom and the Continent have taken most of this year's export, as the Orient market shows a considerable decrease.

CANNERS' DELEGATION HERE TO CONFER WITH MARKETS COMMITTEE

VANCOUVER, April 6 (CP).—A. L. Hager has been elected chairman of the canned salmon section of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. He succeeds Richard Bell-Irving. F. H. Cunningham was named vice-chairman.

A delegation from the section will leave for Victoria tonight to confer with the Provincial Government's markets extension committee on matters pertaining to the export of salmon.

Up-to-Date Light Station Commissioned Off Los Angeles

Anacapa Island Lighthouse, off the California coast, the most difficult to build of all Pacific Coast lighthouses since the erection of the famous St. George Reef Lighthouse and some of the Alaska stations, is now practically completed and went into commission the first of April, according to the United States Lighthouse Service. Anacapa, because of its isolation on a small island sixty miles from Los Angeles, where heavy seas sometimes make landings impossible for many days at a time, has been under construction for two years. Now that it is completed it will fill a long-felt want for a first-class light and fog signal station at a dangerous point on the coast.

Because of its location off the California coast, Anacapa Island Lighthouse will be a valuable aid for both transpacific and coastwise vessel traffic. It marks the southern extremity to the Santa Barbara Channel, and will be valuable to coastwise traffic using that channel and to vessels approaching Los Angeles from the open sea. The new Anacapa Island station, replacing a small light which has been maintained at this point since 1912, will provide a powerful light, a fog signal and a radiobeacon for the aid of passing ships.

EXPOSED TO SEA

In the construction of the Anacapa station great difficulties were encountered, first in landing supplies and materials and then in getting them up the sheer cliffs to the upper part of the island where the lighthouse was to be built. Small vessels waited for favorable turns of weather, approached the rocky shore as closely as possible and then sent their cargoes ashore in small boats. A large derrick was erected to lift materials from the small boats and land them upon a small platform blasted out of the rock. Sometimes the whole boat and its contents were lifted onto this platform for unloading, when the boat would be dropped back into the water.

Higher up on the island a second derrick was so rigged that it lifted objects from the landing platform to the cliff top, from whence they were transported over the specially constructed road to the lighthouse site. One of the first considerations was the building of catch basins and storage tanks to provide the future light station with an adequate water supply.

The completed station consists of a concrete light tower about forty feet high, four dwellings for the keepers, a 50,000-gallon capacity water tank, a powerhouse, oilhouse and other small buildings. The new light will have a candlepower of nearly a million and because of the height of the land on which the tower stands will be 274 feet above the water. During times of fog the air diaphone fog signal will sound a powerful blast every 30 seconds. The station also sends out radiobeacon signals at regular intervals both night and day in clear weather and during fog these signals are emitted constantly.

Alberta Cities To Have Aerial Service in May

CALGARY, April 6 (CP).—Reports of an air passenger and express service between Calgary and Edmonton were confirmed today by I. Innes-Taylor, local agent for Canadian Airways. Service will start on May 1, planes leaving both cities at 8:30 o'clock each morning and making the return hop at 6:30 o'clock in the evening.

Aniakchak Volcano Objective of Party

SEWARD, Alaska, April 6 (AP).—Captain O. E. Anderson and Peter Wold, of the motorship Polar Bear, which arrived here yesterday, plan to pick up Father Bernard J. Hubbard, of Santa Clara University, and his party, off Katmai Beach about April 11, to take them to Hook Bay, where the group will begin an attempt to scale Aniakchak Volcano.

COAST SHIP SOUTHBOUND

Dorothy Alexander Out—Pacific Shipper Expected Here This Morning

On her way to California ports, the Pacific Steamship Company's coastal liner, Ss Dorothy Alexander, docked at Rithet Piers at 10 o'clock last night, and after embarking local and Mainland passengers, cleared for San Francisco, her first port of call in the South, at midnight.

While they had no definite word from the ship since she left San Francisco, King Brothers, local shipping agents, are looking for the Furness liner, Pacific Shipper, Captain E. L. Nuttall, to dock here this morning. The ship left the California port on Monday last. She is coming from the United Kingdom via Panama and California ports. Before proceeding to the Mainland, the Shipper will discharge about 100 tons of general cargo, including a parcel of California fruit. There are three passengers aboard the ship, two of whom are landing here. The travelers for Victoria are Miss M. F. Porteous and Miss M. Crabtree, while a Mr. Fitton is going through to Vancouver.

From California ports, the Pacific Steamship's coastal liner, Ss Emma Alexander, is due alongside Rithet Piers at 10 o'clock tonight with passengers and cargo for this port. After completing her business here, the Emma Alexander will proceed to Seattle at midnight.

HERE SATURDAY

From the United Kingdom via Panama and California ports, the Donaldson Line freighter Parthenia is due here Saturday, according to A. E. Shanks, of Rithet Consolidated Limited, agents for the line. The Parthenia is bringing a good cargo for discharge here.

Towing a tank barge, the tugboat Barbara Foss left Victoria yesterday for Seattle. The tanks were filled with tar, a by-product of the local gas works, and loaded at the company's wharf in the Inner Harbor.

Progress Made With Bill for Regulating Floating Canneries

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP).—The Welch Bill to regulate floating canneries in Alaska, was reported favorably today by the House marine committee. It would require canneries to notify authorities of the position where they would operate, in advance of the salmon season, thus limiting operations to one spot.

Representatives of the floating canneries said their purpose had been to give employment to native Alaskan fishermen, but shore canneries employing labor from the States as well as native fish men, complained the floating canneries offered unfair competition.

SEARCH STARTED FOR MISSING MOTORSHIP

DUTCH HARBOR, Alaska, April 6 (AP).—Search for the motorship Eunice, twenty days overdue here, was started today by the motorship Alasco IV. The Alasco IV will cruise along the coast from Kanaga to Unalaska.

Seven men were aboard the Eunice, including Captain Andrew Nelson, A. H. Proctor, agent for the Alaska Commercial Company, Bishop Antonin and a crew of four.

ARRIVED AT JUNEAU

JUNEAU, April 6 (AP).—Anscell Eckmann, Seattle aviator, arrived here today by plane to start an aerial taxi service. Eckmann flew up the coast from Seattle.

Animal diseases cost farmers of England $100,000,000 last year.

Vancouver Shipping

VANCOUVER, April 6 (CP).—Vancouver-owned and operated Ss. City of Vancouver is due from China, to be laid up owing to lack of freights. The ship's last cargo was a full load of flour from United States ports for Chinese relief.

Canadian Transport Company has the Swedish Ms. Sunnanvik in port from China to load for Shanghai with British Columbia products. The ship will dry dock for cleaning and scraping.

Ss. Henry D. White, under charter to J. C. Dutton Company, of Seattle, which sailed from Portland Saturday for Poughkeepsie, with a full cargo of lumber, has returned to Longview, Wash., to reload her deckload. She lost that portion of her cargo in rough weather 250 miles south of Columbia River.

Orders for construction of two fast motorships of 9,000 tons deadweight each, have been placed in Japan by the Kokusai Kisen Kaisha, states B. L. Johnson, Walton & Co., Ltd. They will be added to the New York-Japan service of the company, and will be superior in speed and equipment to the three vessels placed on the run last year by this company.

The K. K. K. will give a service of about twenty-four days out of New York, when the new ships are run in conjunction with the three vessels now operated, it is said.

Flight of Young Woman Pilot Proves Reliability of British Planes

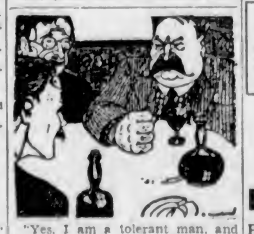

The arrival of an English girl flyer at Amman, Transjordania, after a journey of 4,000 miles from Great Britain in her own light airplane, provides yet another example of the trustworthiness and simplicity of the modern British aerocar.

Miss Irene Brooke Sewell is twenty-two years old. Never previously had she flown outside England, and her longest nonstop air journey was only eighty miles or so. Her flying instructor was not enthusiastic about her skill as a pilot. He is even reported to have said that she was definitely a bad pilot. Yet she has arrived safely at Amman, her machine undamaged and her confidence unshaken, after a voyage which took her across many countries, a wide stretch of sea and some mountainous regions, where an emergency landing or a bad mistake in navigation might have had quite unpleasant results. While in Italy she set a local record for the solo journey from Naples down to the extreme south of the country, and in doing so flew through weather which caused more than one experienced pilot to turn back to the aerodrome.

CAN BE TRUSTED

Clearly, Miss Sewell is by no means a bad pilot. She steered a good course and arrived at her destination; admittedly good pilots have sometimes failed to do as well. But much of the credit for the flight must go to the ease of control and utter dependability of the light airplane and its engine. Literally nowadays the British aerocar can be trusted never to falter, given only the most elementary routine attention to the engine; Mr. Scott, who held last year for some time the record for the flights in both directions between England and Australia, said a day or two ago that the only serious factor in a high speed dash in a modern British light plane was the endurance of the pilot.

Miss Sewell's machine is a Gipsy Moth biplane. In the luggage compartment and the spare cockpit she stowed away a small trunk, suitcases, a hat box and a hot-water bottle holding a reserve supply of water. She made the flight because she had friends to visit in Transjordania and her own light airplane. What better reason could there be?

WILL ROGERS IN LATEST SUCCESS

Famous American Comedian Appears in "Business and Pleasure" at Capitol Today

Will Rogers rallies to the defence of the much-maligned "Babbitt" in "Business and Pleasure," his latest starring vehicle, which showa today at the Capitol Theatre. "Business and Pleasure," adapted from "The Plutocrat" by Booth Tarkington, is a Fox Film production.

The character of Earl Tinker, Middle Western razor blade manufacturer, has been transcribed almost in toto from the book, and Rogers makes the role one of the most lovable of his entire series of talking screen characterizations.

Tinker embarks on a Mediterranean cruise with his jealous, nagging wife and resentful daughter, ostensibly on pleasure bent, although he actually has a very shrewd piece of business in mind.

Wife and daughter are promptly laid low by mal-de-mer, and Tinker has a grand time roaming the boat without hindrance. He meets Mme. Momora, a fascinating Parisenne and falls under her magic spell, eventually telling her the real object of the trip. He is threatened with heavy losses because of unfair competition, and so is out to corner the Damascus steel process as a counter move.

In Algiers, Mme. Momora turns up at the Tinkers' hotel, further inflaming the nagging wife, and her anger bursts all bounds when she discovers that her husband and the woman have been seeing the city together. Tinker, after a stormy scene with his wife, dashes off to Damascus to conclude his deal. He becomes involved in a tribal war, and is captured. How Tinker averts the tribal war, wins his contract, and makes peace with his family, supply one of the most hilarious situations ever filmed.

EMPIRE THEATRE Claude Allister is the only private in a family that numbers a general, two majors and a colonel in its roster. The high British army officers are all brothers of the well known character actor, Claude himself having served as a private during the World War. He adds his usual inimitable comic support to Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts in Universal's "The Unexpected Father" at the Empire Theatre this week.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen

Capitol—Will Rogers in "Business and Pleasure."

Columbia — Buck Jones in "One Man Law."

Dominion—Maurice Chevalier in "One Hour With You."

Empire—Slim Summerville in "Unexpected Father."

Playhouse—"The Sea God," starring Richard Arlen.

Crystal Garden—Swimming, Dancing and Badminton.

DOMINION THEATRE Charlie Ruggles, Maurice Chevalier's military pal in "The Smilin' Lieutenant," combines his comedy talents with those of the Continental star in Paramount's "One Hour With You," which is now showing at the Dominion Theatre. Ruggles has the comedy lead in this new Chevalier production in which feminine parts are played by Jeanette MacDonald, Genevieve Tobin and Adrienne Ames.

"The Sea God" at Playhouse Today

Battle canoes which a few years ago swarmed out of remote bays in the South Sea Islands, filled with warriors seeking heads and the bodies of enemies to eat, are again making martial voyages. Manned by native crews in full regalia, eleven of these fantastic, shell-decorated craft took part in the filming of Paramount's new talking picture, "The Sea God." This production, featuring Richard Arlen, Fay Wray and Eugene Pallette, and filmed partly on an island in the Pacific, opens a three-day engagement at the Playhouse Theatre today.

In the scenes depicting an attack upon a sailing schooner for which they man their war canoes, the natives carry carved spears eight feet long. These are made of palmwood and decorated with bands of colored hemp. Many of them also carry stone war clubs.

"The Vice Squad," Paramount's sensational expose of the secret operations of big city authorities in combating rackets, comes to the Playhouse Theatre as the added feature. The story is an original by Oliver H. P. Garrett, and was directed by John Cromwell. The featured leads are Paul Lukas, Kay Francis and Helen Johnson.

Buck Jones Stars In Western Drama

"One Man Law," coming to the Columbia Theatre today, features Buck Jones in a high-powered drama of the old West. Thrilling riding, red-blooded action and exciting drama in a story of love versus duty. He blazes a trail of thrills that is meat for devotees of adventure in films.

The hard riding, quick shooting Buck Jones is a whirlwid of daredevilry in this excellent "outdoor." Shirley Grey, a newcomer to the screen, gives a capable performance as his sweetheart. Others in the cast who help to make this all around good western that it is are Robert Ellis, Murdock McQuarrie, Harry Todd and Richard Alexander.

"BIRTH OF A NATION" WILL OPEN SATURDAY

"The Birth of a Nation," which comes to the Empire Saturday for six days is a retriumph in all its reborn life and glory. This tremendous epic, with its cast of 18,000 is still, after many years, the immortal masterpiece as created by D. W. Griffith. The cost of this immense production ran into twenty million dollars and has been seen by nearly the whole world.

It is a great family picture and will be a refreshing change from the would-be clever sophistication of most of the present-day entertainment. Many of the stars have passed on and the cast contains many of the most famous names in cinema history.

Seek to Collect Trade Licences

An effort will be made to secure licence fees from all firms trading into Esquimalt from outside the municipality, it was announced at a meeting of the Esquimalt Police Commission last night, during a discussion on the subject.

Commissioner James Painter pointed out that the Municipality of Saanich makes a semi-annual collection from many city firms who deliver into that municipality, and there was no reason why Esquimalt should not do the same thing. Commissioner Sidney Bowden and Reeve Albert Heald expressed a similar attitude on the matter, and the reeve stated that he would make an effort through the council to secure the names of such firms trading into Esquimalt.

It was pointed out that such a move on the part of the board would not prove a source of revenue, but would materially aid Esquimalt merchants who are forced to compete with the outside merchants.

A Happy Surprise

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Who says that dreams will ne'er come true
Mistaken is; they sometimes do.
—Monkey-face.

Monkey-face the Barn Owl did a lot of chuckling these days when he was by himself. He knew it wouldn't do to let Mrs. Monkey-face hear him chuckling, for she would want to know what it was all about and he wouldn't tell her. At least he didn't want to tell her. You see, he was chuckling because Mrs. Monkey-face was doing exactly what he wanted her to do, while all the time she thought she was doing what she wanted to do and that he had nothing to do about it. So Monkey-face would get off by himself and chuckle.

"Sometimes more can be gained by saying nothing than by all the talk in the world," he said to himself. "He has a wise head who knows when to keep his tongue still. I knew that there wasn't a better place in all the Great World for us to have a family than right here in this barn. If I had tried to talk her into it she would have gone straight back to our old home and that would have been the end of it. Now she has forgotten all about it and thinks this place was made for us."

So Monkey-face chuckled and was happy and Mrs. Monkey-face was equally happy. She had discovered what a truly wonderful place for a home was the little room, which was nothing more than a big box which Farmer Brown's Boy had built for them on the rafters way up under the roof of the barn, and the more she saw of it the better she liked it. Every night she went out hunting with Monkey-face, but just as soon as she had caught a good dinner she hurried back to the barn and into that little room and remained there until her excellent appetite sent her out hunting again.

She spent a lot of time fussing about in one corner, especially when Monkey-face wasn't around. She gradually collected there some bits of rubbish. No real nest builder would have dreamed of calling it a nest, but that is what it was intended for. Sometimes Monkey-face would discover her sitting on it in great contentment. He didn't think much about it. It was enough for him that she was contented. Then came a morning when he was late in getting back to the barn. It was almost broad daylight. He found Mrs. Monkey-face sitting there as usual. Being tired, for he had been out all night, he settled himself on the perch and promptly went to sleep. It was late in the afternoon when he awoke. Mrs. Monkey-face was sitting beside him. For a few minutes he sat blinking rather stupidly. Then he happened to look down in that corner and instantly he was wide awake. On that little pile of rubbish was something white. He jumped down and went over to it for a closer view. It was an egg! Yes, sir, it was an egg! There was no doubt about it.

Monkey-face slowly turned his head and looked up at Mrs. Monkey-face. There was a pleased look on his funny face and there was an equally pleased look on hers. "Is it ours?" he asked somewhat foolishly.

"If it isn't I don't know whose it is," she replied rather tartly.

"But—but—I didn't think it was time yet," he protested.

"That is because you don't think of anything but your stomach," retorted Mrs. Monkey-face. "What did you think I have made a nest for? It is so warm and comfortable here that we can raise a family earlier than we ever could before. Aren't you pleased?"

"Of course I am pleased. I never was more pleased in my life," replied Monkey-face, leaning forward and touching the egg gently. "I am just surprised, and it is a most happy surprise. It is indeed, my dear."

"I'm glad to hear you say it," retorted Mrs. Monkey-face dryly, "for from now on you will have something to think about besides your own stomach. If we are to raise a family you will have to do your share. Don't forget that."

"Have I ever failed to do that?" asked Monkey-face reproachfully.

"No," she replied, "I can't say that you have. I'm just warning you that there are busy times ahead, very busy times. Now we'll go out for our dinner."

All that night as he hunted Monkey-face chuckled.

SECRET PLACES

By Joan Sutherland

CHAPTER XVIII

After Feodor ended his telephone conversation with Greta, he stood looking out of the window at the trees and grey fronts of the houses opposite; already Paris was fully astir. Everyday life was on its way as usual, and he watched it, breathing deeply of the still sultry air, aware in every fibre of his being of his own danger. Once he glanced at his watch—nearly half-past nine—and a queer sick feeling of apprehension seized him. What if the police were slow—what if they followed him to the Embassy?—and he laughed shortly and turned away from the window. Since questioning was certain, what matter where it occured? Publicity of all kinds must follow—a member of the Diplomatic Corps on the eve of his marriage, questioned by the police about the murder of a well known member of French sporting and financial circles, whom he was known to dislike cordially . . . on the eve of his marriage . . . his marriage . . .

The shock of the evening's occurrences, the necessity for concentration of thought if Greta were to be saved, the effort of trying to fix some possible line of defence, had for the time being absorbed all his thoughts and attention, but now, suddenly horror of his own situation came home to him with a hideous intensity.

In a few days' time he was to have been married, and now, instead of marriage was the possibility of arrest, trial—and its inevitable result—unless a miracle were to happen.

D'Arblaye had been murdered; he, Feodor, had been seen coming in the early hours from D'Arblaye's apartment—circumstantial evidence certainly and none other, but it was evidence only too strong. His sole possible defence would be to speak the truth and accuse Greta, for a French jury would almost certainly acquit her on the grounds of the crime passionnel; but what would his own reputation be, even if he were believed and acquitted. He had been seen at the apartment, Greta had not. There was no evidence to connect her with the crime, and she was not the type to act heroically or confess. Would the Ambassador insist on diplomatic immunity, and if so would such immunity hurt Greta? She might be under suspicion and would certainly be questioned. The punishment for murder was death—death—the crime passionnel might save her, but—Feodor put his hand slowly to his throat fingering its strong column—almost stupidly he stood there, then the door opened and he started violently, only to see his man on the threshold.

"Excuse me, m'sieur, but may I take the tray?"

Feodor started, then made a gesture half of impatience, half of helplessness.

"Yes—take it—" and as the man left the room he dropped into a chair, and leaning his head on his hands tried to pull his thoughts together. Toni—there was Toni—Toni would hear of the affair, would know that he had stayed behind with D'Arblaye and Greta at her request, would be frantic to know the truth, to see him, and he could tell her nothing. To clear himself would be to incriminate Greta; he would pretend to know nothing, he would deny his guilt—but if he denied knowledge, suspicion might fall on the woman—even now there was a possibility of its doing so—he was in a trap, a trap that must close on him hour by hour, day by day till the inevitable awful end, or else close on a woman—a woman, wife of the friend he loved; sister—with a groan he checked his thoughts, and rising went over to the window once again—and there, stopping at the house was a taxi, out of which emerged two men and a police officer—and at the sight a fury of desperation, a mad desire to fight for liberty overwhelmed him, to be controlled almost before it awakened as hopeless folly. But there was one thing—snatching up the telephone in the hall he called Toni's number, careless now of his man or anyone else, wordlessly, frantically praying she would answer—he heard the clang of the elevator doors, and at almost the same instant the peal of his bell, and her voice on the wire.

"Yes . . . . who is it?"

Francois came out of the bedroom to open the door, but Feodor stopped him fiercely.

"One moment . . . Toni! It is Feodor speaking . . . dearest . . . I will not be able to see you . . . I can't . . ."

What to say, how to prepare her, how to warn her of the shock—a second peal, a peremptory knocking on the door—Toni's voice sharp with anxiety.

"Feodor, what is it? Dearest, what is the matter—? and a voice outside demanding admission.

"Toni—beloved—trust me—for God's sake trust me—" and then a sharp rap on the doors, and Francois's terrified face as Feodor himself opened them, and faced the three men—a Commissaire of Police and his two assistants.

The moment once arrived, his agitation was over; calmly, not without irony, he faced the Commissaire who had given him a perfunctory salute.

"Monsieur Feodor Staire?"

Feodor bowed.

"Yes, Monsieur le Commissaire, I regret having had to keep you waiting, I was speaking on the telephone."

The Commissaire glared; such coolness seemed to him extremely out of place.

"Monsieure Staire," he said, and glanced at a paper he held in his hand, "I am instructed to examine you with reference to a murder—the murder of Henri Victor D'Arblaye—who was found shot in his apartment at half-past eight this morning—"

"Come in," Feodor said curtly, and followed the Commissaire into the sitting-room while the other two waited in the hall.

As the door closed he spoke.

"May I ask the meaning of this intrusion?" he said. "As for a murder . . . has M. D'Arblaye been murdured?"

"He was found by his servant shot through the heart this morning. You were seen by the concierge leaving the apartment at ten minutes to five, after being there less than five minutes. Why did you visit the dead man at such an hour?"

"I must decline to answer," Feodor said, his voice level and calm; "I am a member of the British Diplomatic Service, and as such must report this affair to my Ambassador and await his orders. Be good enough to wait while I telephone?"

The Commissaire looked at him sharply, then signed assent, and Feodor went over to the telephone; the conversation was brief, and after a moment or two he turned to the other man and hung up the receiver.

"My orders are to report myself immediately at the Embassy," he said. "You will accompany me there and can make your report."

"Feodor, Feodor, what is it? What's the matter?" Toni rattled the telephone receiver violently, but there was no answer. Calling the exchange she demanded to be connected again, received the answer after a minute or two that no reply was forthcoming from the number given, thus frustrated, turned away from the instrument and stood in the middle of the hall, fear and dismay in her heart. What had happened? What in the world could have happened to make Feodor telephone her at that hour and in that voice? What could have gone wrong? Surely her fears could not have materialized?

Acting on sudden impulse she called up her sister's apartment and Greta's maid replied, saying that madame was still in bed; she had rather a bad headache. She would be up presently. Could she give any message?

Foiled again, Toni put on her hat and coat and prepared to go out. She was just leaving her room when she encountered her mother in the hall, and Lady Alice looked at her in amazement.

"Toni, my dear! Going out at this hour?" she said. "It's only just after ten. Did you want anything? You know you were to have those fittings at eleven. What's the matter?" for Lady Alice could not but see the look of distress and worry on her daughter's face.

For a moment Toni hesitated, then she said:

"Oh, nothing! I've got an awful headache, and it has been such a stuffy night. I have hardly been to sleep at all. I thought I would go for a walk."

Her mother, too wise to ask questions, nodded.

"Very well, dear," she said, "if you think a walk will do you good. I will bring the car down to Leonie's at eleven and meet you there. Don't get too tired. You have had a bad night, and their will be rather a strain on you these next few days."

Toni nodded, made some half audible answer and turned away; the only thing, she felt, was to get out of doors, but once in the Avenue under the half-bare trees she felt oppressed by the unnatural heat. She hailed a taxi, and gave Feodor's address, but half-way to the flat she stopped the man turned him back, for after all, Feodor always left for the Embassy about a quarter to eleven, and it would be no good going to his apartment. He would not be there, and she had too much delicacy to question the servant as to his mood or the reason of that strange call. So there was nothing for it but to wait until lunch time, when she would have a chance to speak to him, for she knew he could call her up, or at least be accessible.

So, dismissing the man, she walked the remainder of the way to Leonie's, arriving there just at eleven, waited a few minutes for her mother, and then amazed at Lady Alice's unpunctuality, was about to telephone to the flat to see if she had left, when Lady Alice herself walked in.

One glance at her face and Toni knew that her fears were realized. Lady Alice was very pale, but very composed. Without speaking to Toni she turned to Leonie, who had hurried forward to this influential client.

"Madame Leonie," she said, "I'm afraid we shall not be able to have fittings this morning. I will telephone you if we can come down this afternoon. I have had some rather important news, and I shall need my daughter. I am sorry to have kept you waiting, Toni. Will you come with me now, dear?"

Toni looked at her for one moment intently, then she nodded.

Once in the limousine, Lady Alice wasted no time. She knew her daughter, and she knew that the kindest thing was to be brief and to the point.

"Toni, dear," she said; "I want you to be as brave as you can, for there is bad news. D'Arblaye was murdered last night or early this morning in his flat, and Feodor has been detained at the Embassy in connection with the crime."

Toni gave one gasp, was quite silent for a moment, then in a strained, quick voice said: "That's absurd; ridiculous. That is why Feodor phoned me this morning, though. Murdered? What time? How? When? Please, mother—yes, I will be quiet. I am quite quiet, but I must be told as much as there is to know. I've a right."

Lady Alice laid her hand over Toni's.

"You shall know everything that I know," she said. "And, of course, it is a mistake. We all know that. Shortly after you had gone Ronald rang me up and asked me if I had heard the news. He had heard it in his office, directly he got there. D'Arblaye was found by his man at eight o'clock this morning, shot dead in his sitting-room, apparently with his own revolver. The concierge was called and the police were sent for. Feodor was visited by a Commissaire of Police in his flat just before he left for the Embassy. Feodor naturally had to go to the Embassy with the Commissaire of Police, and is now detained and may be brought up before the Judge d'Instruction for examination unless the Ambassador interferes. For the moment this is all we know. We are finding out everything we can, and the Ambassador will, of course, take steps in the matter. Toni, dear, this is a moment when you will need all your courage and all your faith."

TORONTO NATIONALS WIN ALLAN CUP HOCKEY

Leafs and Rangers To Meet in Second Cup Battle Tonight

Stanley Cup Finalists Will Clash at Boston Arena —Leafs' "Kid" Forward Line Will Start Again—16,000 Expected to See Game

BOSTON, April 6 (CP).—Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers, with one game already to the Leafs' advantage in the Stanley Cup hockey series, arrived here today to renew the struggle in the Boston Garden tomorrow night. Shunted out of Madison Square Garden in New York by the invading circus, the Rangers named Boston their "home ice" for the second game of the three-out-of-five series.

Each club will enjoy a full day of complete rest here. The rival managers had planned workouts for their squads late today, but were forced to call of these preparations when it was learned the Boston Garden ice had been removed. A wrestling show will hold the stage tonight.

Manager Conny Smythe and Coach Dick Irvin, of the Leafs, will start tomorrow night's game with the same line-up that turned back the Rangers, 6-4, Tuesday night. The "kid" forward wall of Charley Conacher, Harvey Jackson and Joe Primeau will again get the call here, but this time they will be opposed at the start by the Ranger veteran trio, the Cook brothers and Frank Boucher. Manager Lester Patrick opened the first game with his reserves on the front line.

This Stanley Cup battle has proved a big attraction to Boston's hockey supporters, and a capacity crowd of some 16,000 is expected. Delegations from Toronto and New York are reported on the way.

Wrestling Club, announced yesterday that he would send two of his proteges over to contest in the British Columbia championships to be staged in New Westminster on Friday and Saturday. It was originally hoped that four of the club would be able to make the trip, but owing to it being a two-day meet this was found impossible.

The two grapplers upon whom the "Y" is pinning its hopes are Harold Luney, 174-pound local champion and one of the toughest amateurs in the game, and Pete Tyson, present 134-pound British Columbia champion, who will be defending his title. Coach Lovatt will accompany the boys.

COURT UPHOLDS ACT'S VALIDITY

Australian Commonwealth Legally Empowered to Seize Revenues of Defaulting States

MELBOURNE, April 6 (CP).—The Australian High Court today decided by a majority judgment of 4 to 2, that the Commonwealth Government's new "Financial Agreement Enforcement Act" is valid legislation.

This is the drastic measure which shunts the responsibility for overseas borrowings, whether on State or Federal account, to the Commonwealth Government, and in turn empowers the Commonwealth to seize the revenues of states which default debt payments. It is aimed directly at the State of New South Wales, which defaulted overseas debt payments on February 1 and again on April 1.

Validity of the legislation, which has been passed by the Commonwealth Parliament, was contested by New South Wales, and the States of Victoria and Tasmania associated themselves with the action.

C.A.H.A. Finds Nothing Wrong With Amateur Hockey in Maritimes

MONTREAL, April 6 (CP).—There is no evidence to justify charges of professionalism in amateur hockey in the Maritimes, a special committee today reported to the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. The committee was formed to sift charges made by D. Leo Dolan in an article that appeared in a monthly magazine published in Toronto.

Mr. Dolan had been invited to meet the branch executive and if possible to produce sworn documentary evidence in support of his charges, the report says. He had declined this invitation and had also declined a later invitation to attend the annual meeting here, according to the report.

Although there might be a few cases of those "who will not play fair," the finding proceeds, the great heart of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association is sound." The association could not undertake to finance a nation-wide commission of investigation "whose only mandate would be gossip, and that could be termed nothing more or less than a fishing expedition."

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

Trumpeting Through the Neck—The Nagas inhabit the hill country of Assam, and wear aprons or petticoats for religious reasons. They are very skillful performers on the Indian flute or trumpet, which they play by pressing the instrument against their necks. The trumpets are so finely constructed that the small quantity of air propelled by the pressure of the neck on the opening of the tube will produce the sound.

Rooster-Shaped Money—Kedah, the country of the bizarre rooster-shaped money, is on the west coast of the Malay Peninsula, and covers an area of about 5,000 square miles. The shape of the coin is dictated by some sacred religious symbolism connected with the rooster.

The Reporter Who Happened There Before the Accident—Somebody had telephoned The Washington Herald that an automobile had rolled down an embankment at First Street and Michigan Avenue, Northwest, Washington, D.C. As a reporter arrived on the scene of the alleged accident he found that the mishap had not occurred yet. But while the reporter was surveying the locality, muttering his disappointment, an automobile whizzed past him, plunged up the side of the embankment, back to the street again, and turned upside down.

Out of the driver's seat climbed Charles Mahaney, unhurt, none the worse for his experience, to be greeted by the reporter who got there before the accident.

Poison Reports Discounted by Investigation

MENLO PARK, Cal., April 6.—Spiking rumors that poisoning had been suspected as having figured in the death of Phar Lap, noted Australian race horse, David J. Davis, his owner, announced today that the first findings of veterinarians, attributing it to colic, had been definitely accepted. BILLY TOWNSEND SOUNDLY BEATEN

Vancouver Fighter Takes Severe Lacing From Joey Goodman in South

LOS ANGELES, April 6.—The veteran Billy Townsend, blonde Canadian from Vancouver, was outhit and outboxed for eight rounds to lose a ten-round decision to Joey Goodman, of Cleveland, in last night's main event at the Olympic Auditorium.

When the bout ended, Townsend was a bloody spectacle, cuts being opened under his left eye and over both optics. In the second round he was sent to the canvas for an eight count, and again in the fifth, Joey connected with his dynamite left to send the Canadian to the floor for a nine count. Townsend weighed 146; Goodman, 143 1-2.

Francis Burke, a flyweight making his appearance as a professional, had the edge over Tuffy Pierpoint, Oakland boy, in a whirlwind four-rounder. The referee, however, called it a draw.

RECORD CROWD ATTENDS BOUTS

Packed House Watches Boxing and Wrestling Card Presented at Ladysmith

LADYSMITH, April 5.—This city enjoyed a great fistic and grappling fiesta last evening when the Native Sons staged eleven bouts in their hall. The building was packed to the doors and the curtain raiser, a three-round boxing encounter between Ray Battle and Peter Tassin, gave a fast sample of the heavier bouts that followed.

There were three wrestling tussles interspersed with the fistic contests. The headliner in the boxing was the three-two-minute-round affair between Pat Noon and John Levandusky, two clever lightweights.

H. Cathey and R. Simmonds, two of Ladysmith's representatives to New Westminster at the provincial championships, put up a fine boxing exhibition as the final of the evening.

In the wrestling events, the display between Frank Renarts and Mike Smith was responsible for some thrills. Each gained a fall during the four rounds. Smith will head Ladysmith's wrestling delegation at New Westminster, and is expected to give a good account of himself.

Lloyd George Retires From Active Work

LONDON, April 6 (AP).—David Lloyd George, noted Welsh Liberal, was said by parties close to him tonight to have decided on virtual retirement from all participation in the work of the House of Commons, although he would retain his parliamentary seat.

Only very large political events such as are not now in sight would bring him back into the parliamentary arena, it was declared.

He already has reduced his personal staff and a further reduction is about to be made by the pensioning of individuals, his friends said.

The war-time Prime Minister of Great Britain will devote himself, they added, principally to literary pursuits and to his favorite hobby of farming.

1933 Allan Cup Series Will Be Played on Coast—Juniors at Toronto

MONTREAL, April 6 (CP).—Choosing Vancouver as the scene of the next Allan Cup finals and Toronto as the venue for next season's Memorial Cup finals, and electing Frank C. Greenleaf, of Montreal, president, in succession to J. W. Hamilton, of Regina, the fifteenth annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association concluded here today.

It was decided to allow Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, Montreal Canadiens, Edmonton Superiors, Toronto Nationals and an all-star team from the Maritimes to tour Europe next season. The control of these tours was placed in the hands of the British Ice Hockey Association.

On a recommendation of the last year's meeting that the Allan Cup finals go to Vancouver, the Coast city received them by a vote of 14 to 7 from Port Arthur. It was unanimously decided that the Memorial Cup finals take place in Toronto.

The finance committee granted $2,000 to the Canadian Olympic committee to help send Canadian representatives to the Olympic Games at Los Angeles this Summer.

EASTERN CHAMPIONS DOWN FORT WILLIAM 1 TO 0 IN OVERTIME

McMullen's Goal After Four Minutes of Extra Time Brings Dominion Senior Hockey Championship to Toronto—Western Titlists Put Up Hard Battle in Final Game

By WALLACE H. WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

FORUM, MONTREAL, April 6, the Amateur Hockey Championship of the Dominion, was taken to Toronto tonight by the Sea Fleas of the National Yacht Club. Jimmy McMullen's unassisted goal after 4 minutes 35 seconds of overtime beat the thundering herd from Fort William, Western Canada champions, 1-0, and gave the Torontonians the title which Winnipegs captured last year.

The Nationals beat the Westerners 7-4 in overtime on Monday and the victory tonight gave them two straight wins in the three-game series. The cup was handed over to the Nationals immediately after the game while a crowd of 4,500, well sprinkled with Toronto people, cheered themselves hoarse.

DULL HOCKEY

McMullen's polished goal was the bright spot in a dull game. Starting quickly down the centre with Lough patrolling the other wing, McMullen dodged through the defence and whipped the puck into the net as he cut across right in front of Gordie Hacquoil.

The herd tried to stage a comeback but it was too late and the Nationals sat back for the remaining six minutes and played smart defensive hockey.

Buoyed by the consoling memories of their 7-4 victory in the first game, the Nationals were vastly improved over their first appearance. They presented a tricky and close checking defence that foiled the fast Forts at nearly every turn, and their smooth passing thrusts at the Westerners' goal were always dangerous.

The Western champions started at a fast clip and kept up a steady drive through the three periods and right up to the end of the extra overtime period.

GOALIES PLAY WELL

Both goalies looked better tonight than they did in the first game. Opposing forwards were through to them on many occasions, and only lucky guesses and smart stops kept the puck out of the twine on half a dozen occasions.

Cleverer hockey earned the title for the Toronto squad. They broke quickly, made their plays smartly, and were better stickhandlers. They turned on more speed tonight and held their own with the Forts in that department.

First Surprise of Season

WHEN Jerome Fandor, fine looking race horse, owned by A. E. McKinlay, well-known race horse owner, came in first to capture the Lincolnshire Handicap, two days before the Grand National, it confounded the advice of experts. So little was thought of its chances that it was a rank outsider, classed as a forty-to-one chance. These surprises happen frequently in horse racing.

SAANICH UNITED DEFEATS GARRISON ELEVEN 5-0

Suburbanites Stay In Pendray Trophy Race by Easy Win

Play Strong Offensive Game to Blank Tommies in Wednesday Football League Fixture—Teams Will Meet Again Next Week—Victory Will Give Saanich Squad Custody of Trophy

Playing a strong offensive game and taking every advantage of the opportunities offered them, Saanich United's smooth-working soccer machine moved a notch closer to the Pendray Cup in the Wednesday Football League, yesterday afternoon, at the Royal Athletic Park, by marching to a 5-0 victory over Garrison in a one-sided exhibition. A fair crowd watched the suburbanites whitewash their opponents. Another victory next week over the Tommies will give the Saanich eleven possession of the handsome piece of silverware.

Knowing full well that they had to come through on the right end of the score or their chances of copping the trophy would slip, Saanich went out right from the start to get goals, and had much the better of the exchanges in the opening half. Garrison had slightly the better of the second period, but failed to score, while Saanich crashed through for two goals. The suburbanites were enjoying a 3-0 lead at the intermission.

UNITED ON ATTACK

Starting on the offensive, Saanich bombarded the Garrison goal heavily during the opening minutes, but their shooting was wide in most cases. After fifteen minutes of continuous pressing, the United forwards got home their first tally when Bobby Burns scored with a low shot from inside the penalty area. Shortly after, Burns had another fine opportunity, but skied over with only the goalie to beat. Saanich kept up the pressure, but the Garrison backs stood up well against the onslaughts and cleared practically all of them.

Fred Tooby, fleet-footed left winger, put Saanich further in the lead after another fifteen minutes by cutting in fast on Chuck Chapman's drive to beat Glendenning with a terrific shot from close quarters. The goalie had no chance to save. Eastick had the first real Garrison chance to score, but passed it up by driving wide with Goalie Rowe at his mercy. A few minutes later Pete Burgess missed scoring by emulating Eastick. Chuck Chapman broke through alone and added No. 3 for Saanich with a well-directed low drive to the corner of the net. The suburbanites were still on the offensive at the interval.

Garrison took up the attack at the start of the second half, and had the better of play for the opening twenty minutes. Saanich apparently were satisfied with their three-goal lead and laid back on the defence and cleared at every opportunity. Lloyd Cann, George Wyatt and Eric Moir played brilliantly on the back division and held the Garrison forwards at a good distance.

MISS PENALTY

The Tommies were awarded a penalty when Cann fouled one of their forwards. Pete Burgess made a mess of the spot shot and Rowe saved and kicked to midfield. Shortly after the fans got a laugh when about ten players piled up in front of the Saanich net with the goalie on the bottom of the heap. Rowe managed to wriggle out of the pack and cleared. Saanich's next goal came from a penalty. Art Chapman made no mistake with the kick, and beat Glendennning with ease. Fred Tooby nearly added another, but Glendenning made a marvelous save of a terrific drive from yards out.

Maurice Speller scored the final goal of the match just before time, with a fine shot well out of Glendenning's reach. Albert Hewison refereed and the teams follow:

Saanich United — Rowe, Cann, Wyatt, Stonier, Moir, Love, Tooby, C. Chapman, Burns, A. Chapman and M. Speller.

Garrison — Glendennning, S. Bichard, Linsley, McAllister, Scanlon, Edwards, Bundock, Burgess, Eastick, Wilson and Forbes.

U.S. Women Track Stars

By HARDIN BURNLEY

CONSIDERABLE interest has attached, lately, to the efforts of America's athletes among the fair sex to work themselves into a strategic position, physically and mentally, for an onslaught on the records of the track at the approaching Los Angeles Olympic games.

In this connection, the name most frequently mentioned in recent weeks is that of Mildred "Babe" Didrickson, of Texas, considered by many the greatest all-around woman athlete in American sport history. Miss Didrickson competes in the sprints and some other events.

Miss Didrickson is nineteen years old. In a pentathlon event for women, Miss Didrickson, at this writing, would stack up against the world an overwhelming favorite. She is down around eleven seconds for the hundred. She holds every Southern record except that for the fifty-foot dash.

A month after she took up hurdling, she broke the world's record for the eighty-yard hurdle event. When told that her time was twelve seconds, she said, "Oh, shucks," and vowed to do better. It didn't seem very fast to her.

Her specialty is the baseball throw. She has an arm many a male semi-pro would envy. She holds the women's record at 296 feet.

She broad jumps over seventeen feet.

However, other nieces of Uncle Sam are doing their utmost to keep "Babe" from stealing all of the spotlight. Stella Walsh, the little sprinter, who seems finally to have outdistanced all of her rivals except perhaps Eleanor Egg, is training faithfully with the coming Olympics as her sole objective.

Lillian Copeland, America's champ in the discus throw and the shot-put, realizes that she will have to bring her art to perfection if she expects to beat those husky German frauleins, but she hopes to, nevertheless.

And in her native Needham, Massachusetts, diminutive Olive Hasenfus, who was one of America's hopes in the sprints in 1928 until she injured her leg, is hoping against hope that the fates will be kinder to her in Los Angeles.

ESCAPED CONVICT IN POLICE COURT

Gordon Fawcett, Companion of Bagley, Committed for Trial for Robbing Game Warden

CLOVERDALE, April 6 (AP).—Charged with the theft of an automobile and revolver under threat of violence from Game Warden W. H. Cameron, of Ladner, on March 26, Gordon Fawcett, companion of William Bagley, jail breaker and fugitive from justice, was this afternoon in police court here, committed for trial. No statement was made by the prisoner.

Fawcett, who escaped from Oakalla with Bagley and three other prisoners the night of January 3, was recaptured in Vancouver after the holdup of Cameron, and the stolen car recovered. In it Fawcett had placed firearms and a quantity of ammunition, and police believed he was about to leave the city to meet Bagley, when apprehended. Bagley was Fawcett's companion in the holdup of the game warden and he escaped arrest the night of March 26 by shooting and seriously wounding Detective Maxwell, of Burnaby, who had trailed him into the city. He is still at liberty.

Fawcett was brought here from Oakalla under a large escort of heavily armed Provincial Police, handcuffed to an officer.

The Prince of Wales will open the new Shakespeare Memorial Theatre at Stratford-on-Avon on April 23, the damatist's birthday.

PUNCH ON NOSE MAY PROVE RATHER COSTLY

LOS ANGELES, April 6.—Victor McLaglen, film actor, was sued today by Thomas R. W. Hughes, forty-eight, for $10,000 for a punch on the nose. Hughes alleged that on last January 29, while at the studios, the actor beat him without provocation. His nose was fractured and has failed to regain its normal appearance, and he has difficulty in breathing.

LOCKOUT IN BUDAPEST

BUDAPEST, April 6 (AP).—A one-day lockout was ordered for tomorrow by industrialists today, after workers had called a half-hour general strike in sympathy with printers striking because of the Government's suspension of the Socialist newspaper Veaszava. Turmoil in the Hungarian Parliament followed the newspaper's suspension because of "articles urging the workers to arms." Police and soldiers were held in readiness to deal with any disturbances.

PROTEST MOVE BY SAANICH COUNCIL

Ward Four Ratepayers Criticize Action in Terminating Library Services in Municipality

Recent action by the Saanich Council in discontinuing the services of the Victoria Public Library in the municipality came under fire at a meeting of the Ward Four Ratepayers' Association, held at Marigold Hall last night. This matter was the chief discussion topic of the evening.

The general opinion of the meeting was that the council had not made a strong enough effort to arrive at some terms whereby the residents of Saanich might be served to some extent.

It was suggested that the council as a whole, or its representatives, might have met the library board and discussed the possibility of giving partial service to the Saanich residents. No resolution to be forwarded to the council was passed, but it was decided that further information would be obtained in the matter and it would be again discussed at the next meeting, which takes place in the Fall.

Other discussions took place on the matter of the municipality having to bear a portion of social service costs and reassessment of Saanich property, but little definite information could be obtained regarding the same.

Construction in Victoria passed the $17,000 mark with the issuance of several large permits at the City Hall yesterday. Included in the permis issued was one for a duplex house to be erected at 1017 Fairfield Road at a cost of $4,500.

This permit, with others issued yesterday, brings the total for the month to $17,500. Three new homes have been undertaken during the past week, James Barf, building inspector, stated.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

Sir,—The Colonist has requested its correspondents to restrict their letters to within a limit of 400 or 500 words. Mr. Ledingham, by his advocacy of noncontributory unemployment insurance and the issue of fiat currency, has opened up a discussion on problems upon which many volumes have been written and many more could be written without carrying universal acceptance of opinions expressed therein.

As your correspondent has, either carelessly or intentionally, misrepresented my position, I crave your indulgence for a short reply.

Noncontributory unemployment insurance would enable a man to demand a living wage or dole, whether he worked or produced something or not. Men differ very materially in their outlook on life and its responsibilities.

Some men take a pride in giving value for wages received, make themselves valuable, or almost invaluable, to their employers, get well paid for their services and, by exercising thrift, become capitalists to the extent of owning their own homes and put money in their bank and even buy interest-bearing bonds—the bete noir of the less thrifty is the Socialist advocate. This type of man could be depended upon to accept work from the state, if unfortunately he lost his job, and give value for wages received. There are others, however, who would lose all incentive to work for private employers and be paid by results if they could get a living wage from the public chest without giving return or by making only a pretence at work.

The dole would put a premium on idleness, tax and discourage the thrifty worker, tax and discourage capital from continuing old enterprises and entering upon new ventures. Instead of a race of thrifty and enterprising people we should develop in time a brood of discontented parasites.

Mr. Ledingham, in his second letter, says: "Mr. Percival approves of fiat currency to produce more surpluses." This statement is not correct, as I am opposed to the issue of a fiat currency except as I stated as an emergency measure to meet present conditions and "provided the money was used to pay for labor producing something that is now saleable or likely to be in demand and saleable within a reasonable time."

The world, however, is suffering not so much from overproduction as underconsumption caused by diminished purchasing power through shortage of gold to conduct the trade of the world and meet obligations incurred by reckless borrowings and expenditures and intensified by the accumulating of most of the existing supply of the precious metal in a few countries.

Take for instance wheat upon the profitable production and sale of which staple food Canada's development and prosperity has been so largely based in the past. The carry over from year to year, to insure a supply in times of poor crops, has not been unduly large, but the consumption has been much less per head in importing countries and the price has been ruinously low because gold is dear and because Russia dumped large quantities on the markets of the world at a price below cost of production even in their own country of enslaved labor. In order to get gold, and also as a weapon of economic warfare against capitalistic countries, Russia sacrificed a great deal of wheat which her own people really required for food at home.

Canada is not a self-sustaining country. She must produce for export to pay for imported necessities and luxuries, which a fiat currency distributed to the worker or the workless could not buy, because it would not be accepted at anything like face value by foreign exporters. Fiat currency would not cancel our foreign loans or pay the interest on them, but if issued to the extent that would satisfy the insatiable appetite of some of our people would destroy the savings and investments of our thrifty population. Why should the foreign creditor or investor in our securities get repaid in full and with interest and our own people lose all their savings invested in the same class of securities? It is not, as Mr. Ledingham states, a matter of "the bankers may choose their fate." It is a question of spoilation of capital, thrift and labor; the three great factors in material progress and prosperity.

Currency to be of real use must have some intrinsic value as the result of capital and labor applied to its production. The restoration of silver as a medium of exchange need not necessarily wait for international agreements because the British Empire is practically self-sustaining, or can be made so, and if the countries of the Empire so decide to do they can stabilize the respective values of silver and gold, and, an adequate supply being assured without excessive cheapness, other commodities would rise in value to insure profitable production and sale and interest on borrowed capital could be met without spoilation of any desirable class of our population.

Dear Doctor,

Apropos of the "ins and outs" of Chiropractic, how did the tea-party go off? (I refer to the one for Lepers and Small-Poxonians, etc., at which your odd dozen prodigies were to preside?) I am most interested Did the various Bacteria "catch on," as it were—and if so, did a clout on the "fourth dorsal" come up to expectations? Please tell me, because my husband has been marooned on D'Arcy Island for some days (that will teach him to take his "sweetie" canoeing in bad weather!!), and I'm a little skeptical about having him around the nursery again. Please report, in full, to

MRS. THROGMORTON DE SWAUFFEUR.

My Dear Madame,

It is with great difficulty that I write. My ten "dear ones," I am sad to confess, are no longer substance of this Earth. At that fateful tea-party, scarce had the rapturous savor of buttered muffins turned the dining-room into a "gourmet's Paradise" ere six of my darlings turned jet black and snapped in the middle, while the remaining four swelled up, and then began to smoulder and finally disappear in a burnt-sienna haze.

For hours, I attacked "fourth dorsals" with thumbs, knees, teapots and "entree" dishes, but my efforts failed even to kindle enough life-spark to enable them to mutter a parting "Good-bye, Old Pal—you done us wrong!" Tough, Mrs. Thingmijigg—but I have learned a lesson. In future, I shall treat Diagnosis and Bacteria with sincere respect, and reputable Physicians and Surgeons with more of that same substance.

You must excuse me, now. I want a few quiet moments by myself to mull over that speech that was microphonically wafted over the Straits of Juan de Fuca to us on Sunday, the 3rd inst. I refer to the patriotic throatings of a certain young Professor of the University of Washington that must have soothed so many Sattellites (more specifically, Seattleites), re the Disintegration of the British Empire!

That the British Empire seems (according to this young Mark Antony's rhetoric) in such a doddery condition must be comforting to the U.S.A., and most discomforting to Merrie Englande. To prove it I received a cable, this morning, from Britain's Prime Minister, asking me if I could possibly save him a trip across the Atlantic, by informing this young oracle that, as a result of his remarks, Buckingham Palace has been turned into a Bowling Alley and No. 10 Downing Street into a barber shop that specializes in the trimming of Soviet whiskers! The Prime Minister added congratulations, and felt sure that this wordy young Diogenes' Cambridge education, and birth and long sojourn on British soil, would fortify him to discourse with patriotic volubility and conviction! Also, the Prime Minister hopes that the Professor will hold his American position for many, happy, "disintegrating" years!

Good eeveningge,

D.D.

COSMOPOLITAN JURY PICKED AT HONOLULU

HONOLULU, Hawaii, April 6.—Racial cross currents flowed through the jury box here today with Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, and John C. Kelley, blue-eyed Irish prosecutor, each seeking to divert them to his own advantage in choosing a jury to try Mrs. Granville Fortescue and three navy men accused of the Joseph Kahahawai lynching.

When the session ended there were three Americans, two Hawaiians, one Swede, one Portuguese, one Chinese-Hawaiian, a German, two Chinese and one Scotsman in the box, and each side had used eight of its peremptory challenges.

Vienna, Austria, has built 38,230 residences in chain apartment houses and 4,000 residences for one or more families since 1923.

SALUTING APRIL

So this is April—how are you?
And all the little Aprils, too?

April, where the blossoms flit,
April, of the two-base hit,
April, where the wild fanatic
Rises with exultant scream
When the shortstop grows erratic—
If he's on the other team.

April, where the song birds twit,
April of the sand-filled pit,
April, where the raging duffer,
Planted in some bunkered spot,
Starts to suffer and to suffer
As the niblick blades grows hot.

April, where the sunbeams sit,
Where all nature throws a fit,
April, where the winging swallows
Circle o'er the purple moors—
April, where the hills and hollows
Beckon to the great outdoors!

So this is April—how are you?
And how is Mr. April, too?

KNOCKOUT AND STOPPED

A somewhat baffled and bewildered fight fan, in the wake of the New York Commission's recent decision, wants to know what will happen if he bets on a knockout and the fight is stopped by the referee to save further punishment.

This is simple enough—extend the phrasing to include both "knockout" and "stopped," or merely let it go at "stopped." A knocked out fighter is most certainly "stopped."

1932 SPEED

1932 may be slow on its financial feet up to date, but it is turning into our fastest year. Look at the speed list: Malcolm Campbell (automobile), Gar Wood (motorboat), Gene Venzke (mile in 4:10), Ben Eastman (quarter in 46 2-5), and Topping in sprinting, Phar Lap (horse racing).

All these have happened before warm weather has arrived, when even greater speed in the running game may be developed.

With this start, 1932 should be the most notable speed year that sport has ever known, especially with all the interest and the training the Olympic games are sure to bring along. This Olympic urge will bring much keener effort to hundreds who, in giving their best, should leave a trail of shattered marks behind.

LUCK AND PENNANT RACES

The hospital list from the South, with the Dodgers leading in this respect, recalls the big part luck plays in a pennant race as far as injuries and accidents are concerned. Connie Mack once told me that luck of the game of baseball, as far as the actual playing is concerned, means less than one per cent in 154 games. But injuries and accidents may run as high as thirty per cent against some team. Star ball players who are hurt can't be replaces with rookies.

A golfer writes in suggesting that the conceding putt be abolished. The surest method would be to put a new excise tax of $1 on all conceded putts.

If most of us had absorbed the shellacking Bat Battalino took from Petrolle we would need a vacation of sixty years in place of sixty days.

Referring again to a golfing tax, the duffer is still shivering in fear of a "stroke tax" on bunker play. This would put an even heavier burden on the human pulse where the heel-print recovery suddenly develops.

VANCOUVER, April 6 (AP).—Nace Swartz, fifty-five, one of the city's prominent business men and a leader in Jewish community welfare work, died tonight. Several weeks ago he met with an accident on the Pacific Highway, near Bellingham. It was believed that he had recovered from injuries received then, but ten days ago complications developed and he was admitted to hospital. He was president of the firm of Swartz Brothers, wholesale fruit merchants, which he established more than twenty years ago.

FINANCE - COMMERCE - MARKETS

Security Prices Still Dropping At Wall Street

NEW YORK, April 6.—Stocks ran into heavy weather at the beginning and end of today's market. They succeeded in riding out the early storm of selling but just as leaders were making better going of it another squall broke and for the sixth consecutive day prices averaged into a new low trough.

Sales totaled 2,094,096, the largest turnover since February 19.

The day's headliner was probably U.S. Steel, which took a late dip to 34 3-4, a new low, and closed at 35, off 1-2, though in the period firmness it had recovered all of an early reaction to 34 1-4. American Telephone dropped 2 at the opening, selling down to 105 5-8, rallied to 109 and closed a point net lower at 106 3-4.

Standard Gas, American Waterworks, People's Gas and Consolidated Gas, off 2 to 3, were among the more bedraggled utilities which, as a group, did poorly. In rails, Santa Fe reduced an extreme loss of 3 to 1 3-4. New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, and Union Pacific returned losses of a point or more. Norfolk & Western was heavier.

General Motors, very active, lost a major fraction on the day; so did Case, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse and Bethlehem. American Can, Union Carbide, Dupont, National Biscuit and Sears Roebuck were off about a point.

Although an erratic bond market provided dealers and traders with some exciting moments today, final returns at the close of the market still held the downward trend.

Loans of the Kreuger companies broke wide open. International Match 5's slumped around 11 points and the Kreuger & Toll 5's dropped 5 to new lows for the year before they recovered moderately. In the rails, Nickel Plate 6's jumped 11 points but reacted to close with a net gain of 4. St. Louis Southwestern made a 14-point spurt but reacted sharply at the close.

The United States Government group was firm. Foreign loans were mixed.

Montreal Produce

MONTREAL, April 6.—With some scarcity developing in spot supplies, egg prices became a little firmer here today. Graded Ontario eggs were generally 1-2 cent to 1 cent higher, becoming 18 1-2 to 19 cents for extras, and 16 1-2 to 17 cents for firsts, with seconds unchanged at 15c. Prairie eggs held unchanged at 19c for extras, 17 cents for firsts and 15 cents for seconds. Local ungraded receipts were 2 to 3 cents under the graded levels.

The butter market continued to sink. Carlots or less of regraded No. 1 were quoted at 23 to 23 1-2c per lb. Fresh butter was 1 cent lower than the regraded price. Lack of demand continued to feature the market.

Winnipeg Market Recovers From Opening Setback—Crop Reports Are Bullish

WINNIPEG, April 6 (CP).—Recovering from an opening setback of nearly one cent, wheat prices climbed steadily throughout today's session of the Winnipeg grain market to close fractionally higher. Crop reports from the United States featured the day's news and accounted for the upswing.

May delivery closed at 62 3-8, a gain of 1-4 cent, with July 1-8 higher, at 64 1-8. October finished unchanged at 66 3-8. Trading generally was local, and volume of transactions was moderate.

Offerings were liberal at the opening when the market, under weak Liverpool cables, sagged. Selling became more restricted, however, on the upswing and appeared only on the bulges.

Export sales again were small and outside interest lacking.

Some improvement was seen in cash wheat trading, but offerings continued light. Spreads generally closed unchanged. Coarse grains were dull, and trading mixed with prices following the trend in wheat.

THAT WORD "RECALCITRANT"

"He is recalcitrant," we say, about a man who refuses to fall in with our plans or a child who will not obey. We want to say that they are disagreeable, contrary, contentious

And usually neither the man nor the child mind very much being called "recalcitrant"—that is no more than they would mind being called "contrary" in a certain matter. And that, we believe, is because they have not looked into the origin or significance of the term.

For the word comes from the "recalcitrare," to kick back. It is perhaps painting the lily to point out that "calcitrare"—to kick—is from "calx," meaning "heel."

Hence, though it is not good language or form to call a man a "kicker," you can get around it with "recalcitrant."

Chief—You waste a lot of time on your toilet.

Typist—It is not time wasted, sir. I have had three proposals from men in the office.—Allt for Alla, Stockholm.

"How much does a necklace like that cost?"

"Some years ago, one like that cost me a year and a day. Nowadays, probably more."

—Buen Humor, Madrid.

"English as she is spoke" in the remote Highlands is not exactly the tongue of the South. This fact is illustrated by a brief conversation which took place between three Highland ghillies, who had a sup each of the laird's own mountain dew. Said Tougal: "That was the fery pest whusky her nainsel neifer tested in all her porn tays!" "So did I neither," agreed Tonalt, and Angus corroborated, "Neither did I too."

PHAR LAP WAS A GREAT RACE HORSE

But Something Went Wrong in His Tummy and He Died

MOTOR CARS are much like race horses, they run beautifully until something goes wrong—and then they are traded in for a new model. As soon as a used car comes into Begg's possession it receives the most thorough inspection and overhaul it has had since it left the factory. Every worn part is replaced, nothing that can possibly give trouble is overlooked; it is a safe, economical car for anybody to own. These are what we call
